Relief Rushed To Hard-Hit Chilean Areas

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — The government sought today to provide food, water and shelter for thousands of Chileans left homeless by an earthquake which killed at least 74 persons and left 135 injured.

President Salvador Allende ordered his top cabinet aides to do everything possible to set up makeshift camps and build crude shelters for some 15,000 homeless persons in a small town north of Santiago.

The earthquake, which struck central Chile late Thursday night, was most severe 85-175 miles north of the capital.

Tired, covered with dust and visibly shaken, Allende said after a helicopter tour of the hardest hit areas that damage in the zone was "enormous, enormous—especially to housing."

He said 60 per cent of the houses "can't be lived in."

The president seemed most moved by what he saw in Huerfano Viejo, a town of 5,000 near the quake's center where every building was destroyed.

The four central zones, in which about half of Chile's 9 million citizens live, were declared emergency zones, and the army took temporary control of them.

The quake registered 8 to 9 on the Richter scale in Valparaiso, Chile's second largest city and main Pacific port, where casualties were high. A government spokesman said 25 persons were killed in the Valparaiso area, and reporters there said the final death toll might go twice that.

The Roman Catholic cathedral in Valparaiso was partly destroyed and 20-30 per cent of the buildings were damaged. Rescue officials said the injured there may total 300 and that a third of the city's one million residents were without drinking water.

Most of the cities and towns in the central provinces had neither water nor electricity. Shortages of bread were reported.

Schools were closed until Monday and students were urged to pitch in with the earthquake relief work. The government also began rationing gasoline and oil because of damage to state-owned refineries at Valparaiso.

Enters Plea Of Innocent To Slayings

WASHINGTON, Pa. (AP) — Aubran W. "Buddy" Martin, a 22-year-old ex-laborer the state says was one of the hired gunmen in the killings of United Mine Workers leader Joseph "Jack" Yablonski, his wife and daughter, has pleaded innocent to the murder charges.

Wearing sunglasses and a bright yellow shirt, Martin stood in the courtroom of Washington County Common Pleas Judge Charles G. Sweet Friday and replied "not guilty" after the indictment was read to him.

It was the same courtroom 2½ weeks ago that Claude E. Vealey, a codefendant in the triple slaying, said that he, Martin and Paul E. Gilly, 37, killed the Yablonskis, carrying out a six-month plot that was financed by a man he identified only as "Tony."

The UMW has denied there is any connection between the plot and W. A. "Tony" Boyle who defeated Yablonski in the union's presidential election.

About two dozen heavily armed police and sheriff's deputies lined the halls of the small courtroom and a deputy with a sawed off shotgun stood guard over the courtroom door.

Court officials said Martin's trial would begin sometime after Labor Day, but his attorneys said they plan to seek a change of venue.

Ohio Tax Bill Vote Postponed To Tuesday

No Certainty Of Passage By House Seen

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio House Ways and Means Committee met all day Friday to work on a compromise tax proposal for the biennium but decided to postpone any vote until 8 p.m. Tuesday.

The Republican-dominated 18 member committee accepted only one of three Democratic amendments to the proposal. It approved an amendment boosting the maximum corporate income tax from seven to eight per cent. The minimum is set at four per cent.

Rejected were amendments that would have changed personal income tax percentage brackets and removed many business operations from the direct use sales tax exemption granted industry on raw materials and equipment used in production.

The bill presently calls for a one to four per cent graduated income tax on personal income in addition to the corporate tax.

Committee Chairman E. W. Lamson, R-38 Jefferson, who has balked at efforts by some Republicans to push a county, rather than a state, tax package, said the 45 Democrats in the House need assurance from House Speaker Charles Kurfess R-4 Perryburg, that he is committed to a bipartisan effort.

Despite a 54-45 majority in the House, Republicans have been unable to come up with a proposal assured the 50 votes necessary for passage because of dissension within their own ranks.

Forces led by Rep. Robert Netzley, R-7 Laura, have insisted that they will back none but a county-collected, county-spend tax program. They said the latest deadline means that their proposal is the only alternative left.

Democrats, in turn, have insisted that cuts made in the administration's original $9.1 billion budget request be partially restored before they lend support to any tax measure.

Bomb Explodes In Providence

Providence, R.I. (AP) — Police said a bomb blew out windows on the first two floors of City Hall late Friday night.

Fire officials said the bomb exploded on the sidewalk next to the building.

In addition to smashing City Hall windows, it blew out windows of six businesses on a street behind City Hall.

There was no fire, however, and no injuries were reported.

Proxmire Says Politics Behind Aid For Lockheed

Dayan Sees War Danger Growing

TEL AVIV (AP) — Defense Minister Moshe Dayan said today that Egyptian pressure on the United States is impeding American military aid to Israel and undermining the chances for a negotiated Middle East settlement.

In a radio interview, Dayan also warned Western defense leaders to be more alert about the "clear breach of the balance of power" created by Soviet penetration into the Mediterranean area.

He said talk coming from Egypt indicates the possibility of renewed fighting in the second half of this year.

On relations among Egypt, America and Israel, Dayan contended that Cairo is receiving all the arms it requires from the Soviet Union whereas his country "does not have a regular flow of arms because of pressure exerted by Egypt on the U.S. not to supply warplanes to Israel."

The patch-eyed minister said the Egyptians want the United States to conduct negotiations with Israel and "they regard Washington as the lever for putting pressure on us."

However, he argued that in view of continuing Russian military aid to Cairo "such a situation prevents...the formation of any negotiation framework or even a partial agreement with Egypt."

Dayan said he hoped Washington would not give support to the Egyptian-Soviet diplomatic campaign because "without the participation of America an offensive of this sort will have no value."

Focusing on enlarged Soviet activity in the region, Dayan seemed to be chiding Atlantic Alliance—NATO—leaders for not allocating enough concern to this matter.

Soviet "expansionism" in the Mediterranean has become a problem of common interest to Israel and the Western world, he said.

"I find it unimaginable that those dealing with military issues in NATO do not perceive the new significance of Soviet consolidation here," he said.

Speaking about the possibility of renewed fighting, Dayan said Egypt "won't gain glory" by any military offensive but would be confronted by Israeli forces that have been significantly strengthened during the cease-fire.

Claims Nixon After Votes In California

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., suggests President Nixon is more interested in saving California's electoral votes in 1972 than in rescuing Lockheed Aircraft Corp. from the threat of collapse.

The idea was quickly denied by an administration witness and Republican Sen. John Tower of Texas.

"We don't talk about it publicly, but we do talk about it privately," Proxmire said Friday at the last of 15 days of hearings on various proposals to grant Lockheed, based in Burbank, Calif., $250 million in federal loan guarantees.

Proxmire, leading foe of aid for Lockheed, said the legislation could be a "significant factor in how California goes."

"It's a fact of life California is a very important state," he said, noting it has the largest number of electoral votes.

"To say we have purely political motives here is untrue and I regret it," countered Sen. Tower.

Undersecretary of the Treasury, Charles E. Walker, who was testifying at the time, also denied any political motives on the part of the administration.

Lockheed says failure to obtain federal backing for private bank loans would force it to abandon production of its L1011 TriStar Airbus and put more than 30,000 people out of work immediately.

Many of this number, including more than 8,000 L1011 workers already jobless, would

Slowdown In Orders Hits Big Steel; Layoffs Started

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A shrinking demand has forced layoffs and production cutbacks in the domestic steel industry and producers say the situation is getting worse.

All but two major producers report either layoffs, "personnel adjustments" or declining production.

Hardest hit are the country's two largest steelmakers, U.S. Steel and Bethlehem.

U.S. Steel, the nation's top producer, has idled more than 5,000 workers in recent weeks, including 2,700 at its Youngstown, Ohio, works. Bethlehem laid off about 2,500.

The cutbacks and layoffs—without pay—began last month when an anticipated production boom fizzled.

Steelmakers had expected buyers to stock up in anticipation of a possible strike when contracts with the United Steelworkers union expire Aug. 1.

But foreign producers flooded the American market with record-level imports, much of it lower-priced products. Import totaled about 1.8 million tons in May and 5.15 million tons the first quarter of the year.

Both company and spokesmen scoff at a report that the layoffs are an attempt by the companies to scare the United Steelworkers into reducing their contract demands during the negotiations under way in Washington.

In addition to its Youngstown plant, U.S. Steel has announced layoffs of 2,000 at Braddock near Pittsburgh; 500 in Gary, Ind.; 400 at its National-Duquesne works in Duquesne, Pa.; and 250 at its South works in Chicago.

Bethlehem has laid off 1,000 at its Lackawanna, N.Y., plant; 725 at Sparrows Point, Md.; 400 at Johnstown, Pa.; and 300 at Bethlehem, Pa.

Also, according to a Bethlehem spokesman, hundreds of men at various other plants have not been scheduled to work. He said they technically are not laid off, but just weren't working this week.

SAIGON (AP) — Three surface-to-air missiles were fired today at U.S. Air Force reconnaissance jet photographing North Vietnamese defenses and supply bases 45 miles above the demilitarized zone. All three SAMs missed their mark.

A spokesman for the U.S. Command, Maj. Richard Gardner, said U.S. fighter-bombers escorting the RF4 reconnaissance plane did not return the fire, presumably because they could not get a good shot at the SAM site.

It was the first time SAMs were reported fired on U.S. aircraft flying over North Vietnam in 2½ months, although a C130 gunship was fired on over Laos less than two months ago.

The RF4 was on a mission over the North Vietnamese coastal city of Dong Hoi, a key staging area for supplies moving south to support Hanoi forces in Laos, Cambodia and South Vietnam. The Command said the unarmed RF4 was able to take quick evasive action.

An F4 fighter-bomber was shot down by a SAM over Dong Hoi last March.

In other air action, U.S. B52 bombers flew their heaviest strikes in a week against North Vietnamese positions in the northern quarter of South Vietnam.

Up to 20 of the Stratofortresses unleashed nearly 600 tons of bombs on suspected North Vietnamese troop concentrations, supply depots, anti-aircraft sites and rocket and mortar positions along the demilitarized zone.

The bulk of the strikes were in mountains northwest of Firebase Fuller, where a large North Vietnamese force is believed regrouping and resupplying in preparation for a new series of attacks.

Ground fighting continued in a full, and Saigon headquarters said enemy shelling attacks had dropped to their lowest level in a year and a half.

Armstrong Is Buried In New York

NEW YORK (AP) — Louis Armstrong has been eulogized and buried in services that shunned the high notes of the jazz funerals of New Orleans, where his celebrated trumpet was first heard.

Some 500 invited entertainers, dignitaries and friends packed the little Corona Congregational Church in Queens Friday to bid farewell to the greatest of jazz entertainers, who died Tuesday at the age of 71.

About 2,000 spectators—at windows, on rooftops and in the street—heard the service over loudspeakers.

"We know what must be taking place in Your Kingdom," said the Rev. William J. McManus, delivering the invocation, "for wherever he went in this world, there was jubilation."

Lucille Armstrong, who lived with her husband for the last 29 years in a simple home four blocks from the church, kept her composure throughout the 40-minute service.

Many musicians had offered to perform but Armstrong's family had insisted he be put to rest in quiet simplicity.

Wilson was captured by police Thursday in a foot race that ended when he broke his leg. He was wanted for escape from the Cincinnati Workhouse June 6 and for three counts of theft.

Wilson, who was booked at police headquarters Friday, was put in a police van for transfer to the city jail. When it arrived there were 14 prisoners in the patrol wagon—but no Wilson.

Free Funds For Children

Food Programs Are Expanded

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department has boosted federal funds to feed needy children in summer programs this year to over $33 million, after complaints from Congress of unfair treatment of localities involved.

The announcement Friday of an additional $15 million for children at playgrounds and day care centers came less than a week after 40 senators complained the department encouraged cities to expand their programs, then said it couldn't fill requests for new funds.

Asst. Secretary of Agriculture Richard E. Lyng said the new money will be enough to meet requests from most states for larger assistance. He said the shares would be announced in a few days.

The department last month increased this year's funds by $12.3 million over last year's $5.8 million to a total of $18.1 million.

With the new total, about 3.7 million children will be able to participate this summer, compared to some 564,000 last year.

Director George P. Schultz, of the Office of Management and Budget, said in a letter to Sen. Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., the increase to $33.1 million was made "because of the President's very strong feeling that needy children should have fully adequate and nutritious meals."

Case, however, was one of the senators who complained in a letter to Schultz that the expansion of the program was a "direct result of Department of Agriculture promotion."

Escape Artist Vanishes Again

CINCINNATI (AP) — Police continued to search today for Robert Wilson Jr., 39, described as "an escape artist" following his second break for freedom within a month Friday, this time on crutches with his leg in a cast.

Wilson was captured by police Thursday in a foot race that ended when he broke his leg. He was wanted for escape from the Cincinnati Workhouse June 6 and for three counts of theft.

Wilson, who was booked at police headquarters Friday, was put in a police van for transfer to the city jail. When it arrived there were 14 prisoners in the patrol wagon—but no Wilson.

Nixon Aids Motorists

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — President Nixon, leaving the Western White House for a secret 130-mile drive, has cast himself as a friend indeed of a motorist in need.

Accompanied by one of his favorite chauffeurs, financier C.G. "Bebe" Rebozo of Key Biscayne, Fla., Nixon set out from his oceanfront compound Friday afternoon on a jaunt inland that took the pair to Lake Elsinore—a 2½-hour trip.

Stopping at an overlook above the lake, Nixon noted a stranded luxury car with lifted hood and asked the Highway Patrol to summon a tow truck. The difficulty, according to aides, appeared to be a broken fan belt.

Nixon met with two unidentified families at the overlook, posing for snapshots with them. He also had his picture taken with the also-unidentified owners of the disabled vehicle.

No newsmen accompanied the small Nixon cavalcade.

After returning, Nixon and wife Pat had dinner at their mansion with Rebozo, Secretary of State and Mrs. William P. Rogers and Rose May Woods, the President's longtime personal secretary.

Athens Policeman Killed In Mishap

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Off-duty Athens policeman Allen Higgins, 27, was killed instantly Friday when a television antenna he was erecting at his home fell against a high voltage line.

Working with him at the time of the accident was his wife, Betty, who was admitted to O'Brien Memorial Hospital for treatment of burns and for shock. Her condition was reported as fair.

The accident resulted in a 90-minute power outage in an area from Athens south to Albany.

Warm Air Covers U.S.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Warm, summertime weather dominated much of the nation today with thundershowers dampening wide sections of the country.

The warm weather brought thundershowers into the Gulf Coast, the North and Central Plains, the lower Midwest and the Mid-Atlantic Coast.

Almost two inches of rain swamped Pickstown, S. D., during the night, while more than an inch drenched Raleigh, N.C., Emporia, Kan., and Charlottesville, Va.

Cooler air moved across the northern Appalachians into the Northeast, bringing the area pleasant temperatures.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 41 at Redmond, Ore., to 94 at Phoenix, Ariz., and Blythe, Calif.

In an auto, they exchanged shots with police in front of the bank.

The car later was abandoned, the men commandeered a city panel truck from a work crew and they continued the high-speed flight which ended when the truck collided with a station wagon.

Another gun battle broke out and one gunman was wounded and taken into custody as the four men attempted to flee on foot.

A second bandit was captured at the rear of the house while the other two held Mrs. Arthur Schwartz and her 18-month-old granddaughter, Anne Marie Looney, at gunpoint inside.

Mrs. Schwartz was baby-sitting with the child, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Looney of suburban Maplewood.

Police, sheriff's deputies, state highway patrolmen and FBI agents swarmed through the quiet, residential area of Minnesota's capital city and two helicopters hovered overhead with more officers.

Police said nearly all the loot was recovered, some of it picked up from the 1200 block of West Minnehaha Avenue, where the hostages were held.

One gunman, later identified by police as Warren Owens, 19, Kansas City, Mo., heeded calls to surrender after about 30 minutes.

Radio Station WLOL telephoned the home and the gunman said he wanted air transportation to Algeria.

"No deals," was the reply from Mayor Charles McCarthy, who directed operations from the scene.

Owens returned to the house

twice, with his hands handcuffed behind him, in a vain effort to persuade his companion to give up. The little girl was released on the second trip, in exchange for allowing a girlfriend of the remaining gunman to enter the house and talk.

The tot ran from the house with tears streaming from her eyes, her three-hour ordeal over.

A young woman was soon allowed to enter the house, and two hours later the gunman surrendered.

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — A man fleeing police after a bank robbery held a woman and her young grandchild hostage in a St. Paul home and demanded air transportation to Algeria.

The man had taken refuge in the house after a getaway vehicle wrecked.

Four gunmen held up the Western State bank and took an estimated $40,000. As they fled

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department has boosted federal funds to feed needy children in summer programs this year to over $33 million, after complaints from Congress of unfair treatment of localities involved.

The announcement Friday of an additional $15 million for children at playgrounds and day care centers came less than a week after 40 senators complained the department encouraged cities to expand their programs, then said it couldn't fill requests for new funds.

Asst. Secretary of Agriculture Richard E. Lyng said the new money will be enough to meet requests from most states for larger assistance. He said the shares would be announced in a few days.

The department last month increased this year's funds by $12.3 million over last year's $5.8 million to a total of $18.1 million.

With the new total, about 3.7 million children will be able to participate this summer, compared to some 564,000 last year.

Director George P. Schultz, of the Office of Management and Budget, said in a letter to Sen. Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., the increase to $33.1 million was made "because of the President's very strong feeling that needy children should have fully adequate and nutritious meals."

Case, however, was one of the senators who complained in a letter to Schultz that the expansion of the program was a "direct result of Department of Agriculture promotion."

Escape Artist Vanishes Again

CINCINNATI (AP) — Police continued to search today for Robert Wilson Jr., 29, described as "an escape artist" following his second break for freedom within a month Friday, this time on crutches with his leg in a cast.

Wilson was captured by police Thursday in a foot race that ended when he broke his leg. He was wanted for escape from the Cincinnati Workhouse June 6 and for three counts of theft.

Wilson, who was booked at police headquarters Friday, was put in a police van for transfer to the city jail. When it arrived there were 14 prisoners in the patrol wagon—but no Wilson.

Nixon Aids Motorists

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — President Nixon, leaving the Western White House for a secret 130-mile drive, has cast himself as a friend indeed of a motorist in need.

Accompanied by one of his favorite chauffeurs, financier C.G. "Bebe" Rebozo of Key Biscayne, Fla., Nixon set out from his oceanfront compound Friday afternoon on a jaunt inland that took the pair to Lake Elsinore—a 2½-hour trip.

Stopping at an overlook above the lake, Nixon noted a stranded luxury car with lifted hood and asked the Highway Patrol to summon a tow truck. The difficulty, according to aides, appeared to be a broken fan belt.

Nixon met with two unidentified families at the overlook, posing for snapshots with them. He also had his picture taken with the also-unidentified owners of the disabled vehicle.

No newsmen accompanied the small Nixon cavalcade.

After returning, Nixon and wife Pat had dinner at their mansion with Rebozo, Secretary of State and Mrs. William P. Rogers and Rose May Woods, the President's longtime personal secretary.

Athens Policeman Killed In Mishap

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—Off-duty Athens policeman Allen Higgins, 27, was killed instantly Friday when a television antenna he was erecting at his home fell against a high voltage line.

Working with him at the time of the accident was his wife, Betty, who was admitted to O'Brien Memorial Hospital for treatment of burns and for shock. Her condition was reported as fair.

The accident resulted in a 90-minute power outage in an area from Athens south to Albany.

Gunfight, 5-Hour Holdout In St. Paul Holdup

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — A man fleeing police after a bank robbery held a woman and her young grandchild hostage in a St. Paul home and demanded air transportation to Algeria.

After five hours of waiting and negotiating Friday, the gunman surrendered and the two hostages were released unharmed.

The man had taken refuge in the house after a getaway vehicle wrecked.

Four gunmen held up the Western State bank and took an estimated $40,000. As they fled in an auto, they exchanged shots with police in front of the bank.

The car later was abandoned, the men commandeered a city panel truck from a work crew and they continued the high-speed flight which ended when the truck collided with a station wagon.

Another gun battle broke out and one gunman was wounded and taken into custody as the four men attempted to flee on foot.

A second bandit was captured at the rear of the house while the other two held Mrs. Arthur Schwartz and her 18-month-old granddaughter, Anne Marie Looney, at gunpoint inside.

Mrs. Schwartz was baby-sitting with the child, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Looney of suburban Maplewood.

Police, sheriff's deputies, state highway patrolmen and FBI agents swarmed through the quiet, residential area of Minnesota's capital city and two helicopters hovered overhead with more officers.

Police said nearly all the loot was recovered, some of it picked up from the 1200 block of West Minnehaha Avenue, where the hostages were held.

One gunman, later identified by police as Warren Owens, 19, Kansas City, Mo., heeded calls to surrender after about 30 minutes.

Radio Station WLWL telephoned the home and the gunman said he wanted air transportation to Algeria.

"No deals," was the reply from Mayor Charles McCarthy, who directed operations from the scene.

Owens returned to the house

twice, with his hands handcuffed behind him, in a vain effort to persuade his companion to give up. The little girl was released on the second trip, in exchange for allowing a girlfriend of the remaining gunman to enter the house and talk.

The tot ran from the house with tears streaming from her eyes, her three-hour ordeal over.

A young woman was soon allowed to enter the house, and two hours later the gunman surrendered.

Bagworms Attack Ornamentals

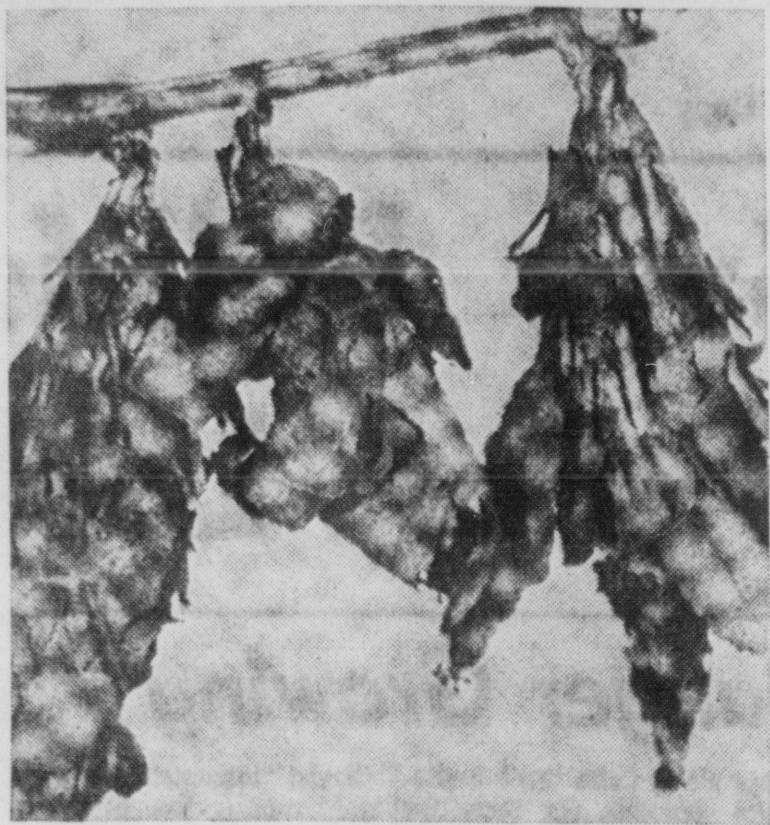

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

This week's observation of ornamentals reveals that bagworms are really doing heavy damage to evergreens and other ornamentals. This damage may go unnoticed until damage is heavy unless careful observations are made.

The bagworm is one of the most curious and interesting of the insect pests of trees and shrubs. Each newly hatched larva immediately constructs a bag in which it lives. The bag is enlarged as the insect grows. The larva drags the bag wherever it goes by extending the fore part of its body, permitting the free use of its fore legs.

When a larva becomes full grown, it stops feeding and firmly attaches the bag to a twig. The time of attachment usually occurs during August but varies from year to year, depending somewhat on the weather as well as the species of plant attacked.

Pupation takes place inside the bag. The adult stage appears about 4 weeks after a larva has stopped feeding. Adult females have neither legs nor wings. After mating with a winged male through an opening in the bottom of the bag, the female deposits a mass of eggs inside the bag. She then wiggles out of the bag and falls to the ground. The eggs live inside the bag during the winter.

and only one generation occurs each year.

During the early part of the century, the insect was found only in southern Ohio. However, in recent years it has occurred in all parts of the state and injury has been reported in northern Ohio more often than elsewhere.

Bagworms attack a wide variety of plants but most damage in Ohio occurs on ornamental arborvitae and juniper. Relatively few plants are killed but the ornamental value of many plants may be destroyed by defoliating and killing the top portion of each plant.

Populations of bagworms fluctuate from year to year, apparently because of natural enemies. Egg and larval parasites increase in abundance as the bagworm population grows.

A knowledge of the life history of the insect is helpful in attempting control measures. On deciduous trees, a degree of control can be maintained by picking off and destroying the bags during the fall and winter months. However, this procedure is less effective on arborvitae and juniper plants because too many bags, and thus too many egg masses, escape detection.

Newly hatched larvae can be killed with insecticides much more readily than larvae which are well grown. Unfortunately, because portions of the plant on which the insect feeds are used in constructing the bag, an infestation may not be observed until defoliation becomes prominent. By that time, larvae may be nearly full grown and stomach poisons will be less effective.

These pests can easily be controlled by spraying foliage with malathion, sevin, or cygon. These materials are available at all pesticide dealers.

Vegetable Susceptible To Diseases

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

Sweet corn — Smut is evident on the leaves of some varieties. Some early varieties are susceptible to this disease. No control is recommended other than planting later maturing varieties. Stewart's wilt or bacterial wilt is present in some fields. Flea beetle feeding transmits the bacteria to susceptible varieties and a good insect control program is necessary to keep it down. Sweet corn with T cytoplasm may be showing some evidence of Southern Corn Leaf Blight on the lower leaves. Growers should watch leaf spot development and make a decision as to the use of a fungicide along with their insect control program. Corn with N cytoplasm should not be troubled.

Tomatoes — Bacterial spot may be evident on some tomato varieties. Copper fungicides will help to keep this to a minimum. Blossom end rot may be a problem on market and home garden tomatoes due to dry conditions or in some locations excess soil water due to heavy rains will injure the roots and result in a similar condition. Fusarium wilt is appearing on some home garden varieties that are susceptible. In cases of wilting of tomatoes in home gardens to be sure to check for the possibility of Black Walnut in the area.

Cabbage — Fusarium yellows may be evident on susceptible varieties. Yellowing and one-sided growth most evident with wilting of the leaves. Internal discoloration often noted at base of plant. Off-color growth and wilting may be due to club root which is a soil borne disease. Very evident by the clubbing on the roots if a plant is pulled. Bacterial soft rot may be evident in some fields. This is a rot located at the base of the plant, with some leaves turning yellow and the head pulling off easily. Affected area is soft, mushy, and putrid smelling. Bacteria splash from soil during rains and enters through insect wounds or by the water collected at base of leaf stalks. No effective control. Back rot could be evident in some fields if seed was not clean. Yellowing of plants and leaves often evident. Black streaks in the veins of the midrib of the leaf and in the main stem most evident. No control now. Use hot water treated seed. Wirestem may be evident on some plants. This is caused by the fungus Rhizoctonia and often starts in the plant bed. Infected plants never grow in the field and a constricted stem is the general symptom of the plant.

Cucumbers are showing evidence of angular leaf spot in some fields. Copper sprays may help to reduce the disease.

Tan or white discoloration on some leaves may be due to wind or sand burn especially in sandy soils.

Storm activity will result in some hail injury on tomatoes and cucumbers. A fungicide spray will help to protect wounded tissue from invasion by disease causing organisms. Be aware of what lightning injury looks like. These are spots of dead plants that appear rather suddenly in a circular pattern in the field. Internal stem tissue will show the pith area compressed into a ladder-like effect. Plants appear as if boiling water was dumped on them. Later they will dry out completely or partially depending on how much of the tissue was affected.

Herbicide injury is still a problem. This may be due to residual in the soil from the previous year. Due to the dry spring there may be a chance for a greater carry over when normal rates were used last year. Complete kill of numerous plants in the area would make one question a drift pattern from a nearby application.

Beans may be showing some evidence of stem cankers. These could be caused by Fusarium of Rhizoctonia. Very little can be done at this time. Halo blight may be present in fields where the disease carried over or infected seed was used. Copper sprays are the only means of control at the present time.

Ohio Cattlemen Roundup Slated

The Annual Summer Round-Up of the Ohio Cattlemen's Assn. is to be held July 24 at the Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center in Wooster.

This event is again in conjunction with Beef Day at the Center. The Wooster Area Cattlemen's Assn. and the Wooster Area CowBelles will be the hosts and are in charge of arrangements and facilities.

The executive committee of the Ohio Cattlemen's Assn. has arranged the afternoon program for this day. David H. Stroud, president and chief executive officer of the National Live Stock and Meat Board will be the featured speaker. John Miller of Des Moines, Iowa, a partner in the Petersen Sheep & Cattle Company of Des Moines and Spencer, Iowa will also be a speaker on this program. The Research and Development Center has secured John Pierce, Director, Livestock Division, Consumer Marketing Services, USDA to talk during the morning session.

A beef barbecue will be served at noon. Tickets for the barbecue may be purchased at the Research Center the day of the Round-Up.

The 1971 Queen of Beef will be crowned immediately following the barbecue.

Manure, Glass Make Bricks

LOS ANGELES (AP) — If you have some cow manure and empty glass bottles you wanna get rid of, J. D. Mackenzie of the UCLA school of engineering may be interested.

He's developed a process combining the two waste materials into ceramic bricks and planks which he says don't smell, can be glued or nailed together, have good insulation properties, will not soak up water, doesn't burn, can be painted, glazed, drilled and sawed. And they're cheap.

Fresh vegetable supplies were down moderately this spring from a year ago. Crops and harvests are presently running a week or two later than usual due to unfavorable weather conditions earlier in the year. Vegetable prices which have been at record highs this spring are expected to decline seasonally as supplies increase. Tips on Buying Fresh Vegetables:

Only vegetables fresh in appearance should be purchased. Remember that vegetables are usually lowest in cost and highest in quality at the peak of their growing season.

Handle vegetables gently — at home and in the store. Bruising causes spoilage and the consumer pays for it — either in higher prices or more waste at home.

Buy only what can be used within two to five days, except for root vegetables which can be stored for from one to several weeks.

Snap Beans:
Snap beans are grown in many states and are generally available on produce counters throughout the year. Fresh snap beans should have good color and a fresh, bright appearance. The pods should be firm and crisp. Snap beans with thick, fibrous pods are overmature.

Beets:
Ohio is one of the major growing areas for beets in our country. Beets may be sold with or without the tops attached. They should be firm, round and have a slender tap (large main) root. Beets should be a deep, rich red color. Freshness can be judged by the condition of the tops. However, if it is firm, the root portion may be all right even though the tops are wilted. Collards, Kale and Other Greens:

A number of different plants are grown as greens. These include spinach, kale, collards, turnips, chard, mustard and others. Leaves of greens should be fresh, young, tender and free from blemishes. They should also be free from insects, especially aphids, as they are both hard to see and hard to wash away.

Fresh carrots are available all year. Most are marketed when they are young, tender and have mild flavor. Carrots should be well formed, smooth, and firm with good color. Avoid carrots with a large green "sunburned" area at the top which must be discarded.

New Potatoes:
"New potatoes" usually describes potatoes which are harvested and marketed during spring and early summer. They should be well-shaped, firm and free from sunburn or blemishes. Best use for new potatoes is either boiling or creaming.

Link OSU Official, Land Deal

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The Cleveland Plain Dealer said Friday that Gordon B. Carson, vice president of business and finance at Ohio State University, is a stockholder and director of a firm that is trying to buy more than 50 acres of university land without competitive bidding.

The newspaper said the deal could run as high as $1.7 million.

Carson owns 1,200 shares of stock in the Industrial Nucleonics Corp. of Columbus, the Plain Dealer said.

Special legislation pending in the Ohio Senate would enable only Industrial Nucleonics to buy some 52 acres of university land west of the Olentangy River, the story said.

The land is part of the OSU farmland and is used for pasture, the newspaper said, adding that it is the only substantial tract of vacant land for miles around the university.

State Sen. Robert R. Shaw, R-Columbus, who represents the area in which the land lies, said OSU asked him to introduce the legislation, but added that Carson was not involved in making the request.

Carson last month announced his resignation from OSU to become vice president of Albion College in Albion, Mich.

BIKE RIDERS — Members of the 4-H bicycle clubs converged on the Pickaway County Fairgrounds recently for an outing. Cycling is one of the newer 4-H activities in Pickaway County.

There were bicycles everywhere. That's what many people said as they traveled on Stoutsville Pike between the fairgrounds and Washington School on July 1.

The 66 4-H'ers and 15 parents and advisers from eleven bicycle clubs rode to Washington School from the fairgrounds. At the school they took a cool - aide break and discussed riding habits and safety rules observed.

On the return trip the group stopped at the Country Club for a picnic. After the picnic the riders competed in bicycle games.

The bicycle project is a new one for Pickaway County this year. There are 141 members in eleven clubs with names such as Hot Wheels, Road Runners, Road Racers and Hot Slicks.

This is a three year project with major emphasis on safety. Other areas of study include bicycle maintenance, bicycle adjustment and personalizing your bicycle.

Hardin Opposes Subsidy Change

TUNIS (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin said Friday he will not recommend any changes in the 1970 law limiting farm subsidy payments even though many large farms reportedly have spread out their businesses to avoid losing subsidies.

Hardin said the splitting up of large farm holdings "is perfectly legal in the way the law was written. Of course, if there are any instances of illegal steps taken by certain farmers, these will be taken up in due course."

"But, at this point," he added in an interview, "I am not in favor of changing the law itself. I think it is a good law, and it has helped a large number of small farmers to get allotments and thereby improve their efficiency."

Central City in Colorado was known as the "richest square mile on the earth" when it was incorporated in 1864.

The Annual Summer Roundup of the Ohio Cattlemen's Assn. is to be held July 24 at the Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center in Wooster.

This event is again in conjunction with Beef Day at the Center. The Wooster Area Cattlemen's Assn. and the Wooster Area CowBelles will be the hosts and are in charge of arrangements and facilities.

The executive committee of the Ohio Cattlemen's Assn. has arranged the afternoon program for this day. David H. Stroud, president and chief executive officer of the National Live Stock and Meat Board will be the featured speaker. John Miller of Des Moines, Iowa, a partner in the Petersen Sheep & Cattle Company of Des Moines and Spencer, Iowa will also be a speaker on this program. The Research and Development Center has secured John Pierce, Director, Livestock Division, Consumer Marketing Services, USDA to talk during the morning session.

A beef barbecue will be served at noon. Tickets for the barbecue may be purchased at the Research Center the day of the Round-Up.

The 1971 Queen of Beef will be crowned immediately following the barbecue.

Make Your Corn Worth More With Purina Concentrates

Most farmers recognize the value of supplementing their corn with extra protein, vitamins and minerals. It makes corn worth more because hogs and cattle put on faster gains with less feed.

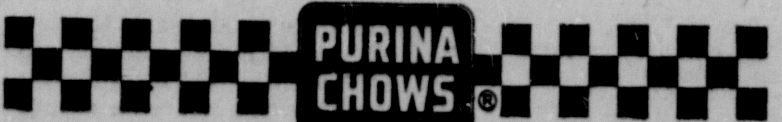

Purina Concentrates and Supplements are research tested and formulated to help produce efficient, low-cost gains. They help balance the nutrition of your corn.

Give Purina's famous Check-R-Mix formulas a try using your grain and Purina concentrates. Keep good records. Compare the difference Purina makes.

Horoscope Forecast

By Carroll Righter

SATURDAY, JULY 10

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You are all stirred up about getting your own way, but can prevent arguments or accidents and succeed better if you stop, look and listen before going after what you now want so much. Relax, think about how to please others first.

ARIS (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You can be too demanding with good friends today and lose their favor if you are not careful. Don't permit a cut or a bruise to go untended. Avoid one who has designs on your mate.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) This is a bad day to go to a higher-up in an irate mood; such an action could hurt you. Following every regulation that applies to you is wise now. Do some reading tonight and keep out of trouble.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You are tempted to kick up a fuss about your work and run off on some foolish tangent, but you would be wise to cool off and do things right. Plan how to get ahead faster. Study new outlets.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Do whatever you can to get your obligations behind you quickly and satisfactorily this day away from office. Although there may be strained relations between you and mate, show courtesy and affection. Take it easy in p.m.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Although you do not approve of what partner is doing, so long as it does not affect you, it is his or her business. Not a good day to fight with one who opposes you. Diplomacy is the best policy now.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Instead of throwing in the sponge, as you are inclined to do, put your routines in better order and succeed where you thought you failed. Improve health also. Take right treatments.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You have time for recreation at last, but take care you do not spend your money unwisely. Do something to assist those in trouble. Be particularly kind to deserving relatives and redeem yourself with them.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You are in a bad mood and want to make more trouble at home, so think and be kind instead. Kin are under tension also and need your kind advice, thoughts. Turn potential trouble into benefits for all, yourself included.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You want to dash around hither and yon without any definite purpose in mind, which would be just wasting valuable time. Get busy finishing uncompleted tasks instead. Don't make unkind remarks to others.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Instead of worrying about financial affairs, get busy doing whatever will add to present income and make repairs to property that will increase value and comfort. Analyze your position accurately. You may be better off than you think.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Refrain from trying to force associates to do what you want them to, since you could be highly excited about something that is not as worthwhile as you think. Don't let pressures cause you to act unkindly toward others.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You want to get those private plans in operation immediately, but study them a little more first. A friend comes to you with some problem that requires time to solve. Five only preliminary advice.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will have need for controlled exercise at sports instead of trying to expend energies on whatever is not worthwhile or good, so it is up to parents to see that spare time from school is used in this way, or doing errands and helping at home, or in some other worthwhile way. Then the child becomes very successful in connection with government, assisting in running big business, humanitarian institutions, etc. Permit to have the right kind of recreation with others while young.

Drug Information Meeting Scheduled

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Law officers responsible for curbing illegal drug trafficking and county prosecutors from throughout Ohio have been invited to an organization meeting of NARCO, a new drug information group, in Mansfield Tuesday. John Windham, regional director of the U. S. Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs, will be the featured speaker.

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Gov. Louie Nunn agreed Thursday to arrange a meeting of Kentucky and Ohio officials to try to get the toll removed from an Ohio River bridge linking Portsmouth, Ohio, and South Shore, Ky. Nunn told a delegation of residents from both communities he would direct his highway officials to talk with their Ohio counterparts to determine what can be done about the bridge. "Some way can be worked out if both sides will approach the problem on the basis of sincere negotiation aimed at freeing the bridge," Nunn said. He suggested that Ohio and Kentucky pay off the remaining $1 million indebtedness on the bridge, then maintain it jointly as a toll-free facility. A survey has shown that 60 to 65 per cent of the bridge tolls are paid by Kentuckians. The bridge is under the jurisdiction of the Ohio Bridge Commission, an autonomous body. Portsmouth and South Point residents claim Ohio has not used all the tolls collected on the bridge to pay off its cost, but instead has diverted some of the money to other uses. An audit seeking to determine whether that is true now is under way.

Major Pentagon Shakeup Proves Only Slight Tremor

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Once again the Pentagon's civilian leaders have avoided a possible clash with top generals and admirals, this time by tinkering with the command structure rather than ordering a major shakeup.

The new move, falling far short of recommendations by Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird's own study panel, comes after he and his top aides: —Backed away from an indicated intention to strip the Joint Chiefs of Staff of military operation all functions and create a separate operations staff under a single high-ranking officer. The study panel had found the present arrangement "awkward and unresponsive."

—Reversed a decision requiring the Defense Intelligence Agency to report directly to him rather than through the Joint Chiefs, thus tightening his control over foreign intelligence. Nearly a year ago the Blue Ribbon Defense Panel, headed by New York insurance executive Gilbert W. Fitch, ordered a thorough overhaul of the defense leadership and management structure, both civilian and military.

The goal, the panel reported last July 28, was to strengthen civilian control, promote efficiency and end serious cost overruns in buying weapons.

No sweeping changes have resulted, although the Pentagon claims to have implemented or followed objectives of 83 of 113 panel recommendations.

The principal steps have involved embedding the "fly-by-the-book" principle in defense procurement; improving military promotion and pay policies; stiffening curbs on conflict of interest and assuring compliance with racial non-discrimination directives.

The latest move came Thursday and was billed by the Pentagon as "a reorganization of the unified command structure of United States military forces worldwide." Actually, it boiled down mainly to abolishing the Strike Command, which never achieved major significance in its 10-year lifetime, and remaking it as a smaller Readiness Command headquarters at the same place, MacDill Air Force Base, Fla., effective Jan. 1.

The announcement said the Readiness Command's "general responsibilities will be to provide a reserve of combat-ready forces to reinforce other unified (multiservice) commands and assist the JCS in joint training requirements and doctrine."

But civilian defense chiefs ignored a key Blue Ribbon proposal to create three super commands designed to bring about closer coordination in planning and use of forces from different services.

Cleveland Narcotics Traffic Blamed On Court Slowness

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Because of a court overload, heroin traffic is "wide open" in Cleveland, says Lt. Burt E. Miller, head of the Cleveland Police Department's narcotics unit.

"Both of the men are already out on bond on charges of selling heroin," said Miller of pictures the Cleveland Plain Dealer ran Thursday morning of two men selling $25 worth of heroin to a reporter.

"We know only too well who they are," Miller said. "They've been involved in heroin sales for years. We have an airtight case from the previous arrest and there is no need to make another."

Cleveland now is "an easy mark" for drug pushers, Miller said, because of court delays, lenient judges and lawyers who drag cases out to gain higher fees.

He said 625 narcotics cases are pending in the courts. "More than half those are either heroin sale or possession — mostly possession," Miller said, adding that one heroin sale case disposed of in court this week had been pending since 1966.

Lima's Radio Station License Is Transferred

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Communications Commission Friday announced approval of application for transfer of licenses of Lima, Ohio radio station WIMA-AM-FM.

The transfer for $1 million is from Northwestern Ohio Broadcasting Corp. to the Lima Broadcasting Corp.

Receipt of new applications by the FCC included a request for transfer of license of WKNT-AM-FM in Kent, Ohio, from the Kent - Ravenna Broadcasting Co. to Media-Com, Inc.

A permit for an FM station on 103.1 megacycles was received from Napoleon, Ohio - Maumee Valley Broadcasting, Inc.

"If we could bring to court 10 of our biggest pushers that we've arrested, we could eliminate about 70 per cent of the heroin traffic in the city," Miller said.

"These guys don't care if we arrest them," Miller said of drug pushers on the city's near West Side. "They laugh at us. They'll be back in the streets dealing as soon as they post bail. All they care about is the hourly wage they get for selling that stuff."

"They keep getting delays and continuances and it becomes tougher and tougher to find witnesses for a case two, three years old," he continued. "The place where the sale was made has often enough turned into a parking lot and the witness' memory has faded."

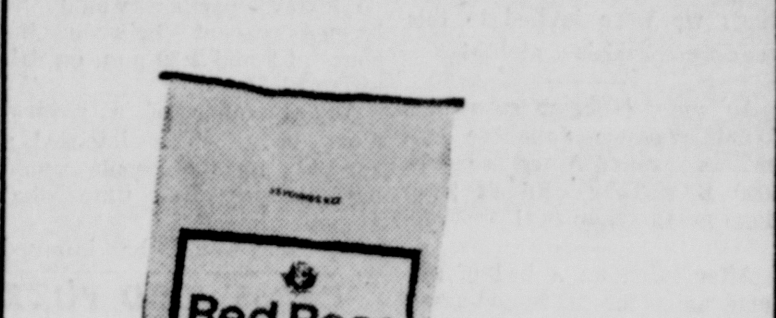

"Meanwhile, the attorney's fee has gotten bigger and bigger and the guy has made more money selling heroin on the street."

Too little attention has been given by curators of museums or by business organizations, to relics of old time offices, such as desks, safes, adding machines, telephones, cash registers, typewriters, mimeographs, dictating machines. They present interesting opportunities for collectors having space for storage and display. A prize for a collection could be this [?] "Cabinet Office Secretary—The Most Complete and Convenient Business Desk Made," offered in 1875. With shelves, pigeonholes, and drawers for any user possessed of a good memory for where he may have put that letter.

The writing-board was shoved back, and the two wings closed and locked, when the user was done for the day. Unearth Old Skeleton In Hamilton County

CINCINNATI (AP) — Archaeologists at the University of Cincinnati are analyzing a complete skeleton unearthed in a park under construction here. Warren Wells, naturalist with the Hamilton County Park District, said that the skeleton could date to 500 A. D. He said the preliminary dating was based on fragments of pottery found near the grave.

He said that the skeleton appears to be that of a woman. The vegetable-growing area around La Jara, Colo., is noted for its garden peas.

Doctor Surplus?

As the nation turns toward critical evaluation of its health care services, many suggestions are being heard. One of the more unusual comes from a radical educator, who says what the nation needs is not more doctors but a better health delivery system.

In an article in the Journal of the American Medical Association, Dr. Kenneth B. Castleton, vice president of the University of Utah, wrote that medical schools ought to halt expansion temporarily.

"The time has come when we should put a stop to expansion at least long enough until we can re-evaluate the problem and reassess the need," he said.

An oversupply of physicians, Dr. Castleton says, could "lead to over-doctoring, unnecessary calls and examinations, overutilization of X-ray procedures and laboratory tests, the lowering of professional ethics and fierce competition leading to solicitation, fee - splitting and inducement."

Doctors in oversupply? What of crowded waiting rooms, communities which are unable to attract even a single physician, doctors' offices which refuse to take new patients except in emergencies, and hospitals which have difficulty filling their staffs?

Admittedly some of the conditions outlined by Dr. Castleton would occur if the nation were fortunate enough to have a surplus of doctors. But that time is not yet.

Possible Tax Cut

With the fiscal year just ended expected to tally one of the larger federal budget deficits in recent decades, this might seem like an unrealistic time to be talking tax cuts. But that is the talk in some circles in Washington, and the reasoning goes something like this:

The economy is undergoing major changes, including the phaseout of the war, a slowdown in space spending and curtailment of other activities, such as the SST cancellation. With 6 per cent of the work force unemployed, major industries unsettled and large numbers of servicemen returning to the labor force, increased consumer spending is needed to bolster the economy.

A tax cut, proponents of the move say, would enable the consumer to spend more. His increased spending would filter through the economy, creating new jobs and lowering unemployment. And just possibly increasing tax revenues.

Safety Equipment

With warm weather firmly entrenched, who can blame Massachusetts American Automobile Association officials for turning their attention to hot pants — all in the name of safety, of course.

The group has endorsed the latest fashions for women drivers because, it says, such things as maxi coats, midi skirts, bell bottoms and spike heels all tend to become entangled in the foot pedals.

That's all very true, of course, but what of the safety aspects of pedestrian hot pants?

At a time when traffic congestion demands utmost concentration from the driver, what is the poor male behind the wheel to do when he sees one of those safety-equipped creatures glide by?

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

"THIS IS THE last time," vowed a prominent suburbanite, "that I take my son to Vermont for a winter vacation. At least, he taught me what a ski bum is. He fell down more often in the bar than on the slopes."

A dear and generally careful and methodical friend of mine recently left a brief case crammed with important papers in a taxi cab, and frantic at his oversight, inserted an ad in the classified column of the New York Times, offering a reward for its return.

Impatiently awaiting results, he rushed to the phone when it rang the next morning, predicting to his wife, "Somebody's found my brief case!" Sure enough, the voice on the other end asked, "Are you the man who advertised the loss of your case in the Times?" "Indeed I am," answered my friend eagerly. Then the caller continued, "Wouldn't you like to order the same ad run in the Post?"

QUICKIES:
An old pal of New York's popular ex-Mayor Robert Wagner met him at "21" and told him, "I haven't been invited to Gracie Mansion since John Lindsay replaced you." "Think nothing of it," replied Wagner ruefully. "Neither have I!"

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Researchers have worked for many years toward developing "soft" contact lenses which have been found far more comfortable and which can be worn continuously if necessary.

These lenses are referred to as hydrophilic in nature because they have the unusual tendency of absorbing water, making them safer and non-irritating.

In addition, the soft lenses have been found of value in treatment of some diseases and injuries of the eye.

Many who have been unable to wear or tolerate hard contact lenses find the soft ones usable both for vision and cosmetic purposes.

Eye surgeons are enthusiastic about the soft lenses, which have passed the Federal Drug Administration's strict inspection.

The kidney machine, or dialyzer, used for patients with chronic kidney disease who develop the dread complication of uremia, will soon be available in every hospital large or small all over the world.

It is about time. The matter of "who shall live and who shall die" has been a decision which placed an awesome burden upon mankind generally and upon doctors in particular.

When the remarkable life-saving dialyzer was first developed about 15 years ago, it was virtually impossible to fill the demand for its use.

It was a pathetic reflection indeed upon our economy and our social growth that money simply was not available for the machines. This created the "who shall live and who shall die" decision in which one patient had to be selected as against another.

We have since broken through the financial barriers and, in a more mature manner, have found the money to create better machines and in sufficient quantity to save all the lives that depend on them.

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today is Saturday, July 10, the 191st day of 1971. There are 174 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1850, Vice President Millard Fillmore succeeded to the presidency on the death of President Zachary Taylor.

On this date: In 1509, the Protestant reformer, John Calvin, was born in France.

In 1553, Lady Jane Grey was proclaimed Queen of England.

In 1890, Wyoming became the 44th state.

In 1913, a record high temperature of 134 degrees was recorded in California's Death Valley.

In 1953, the Soviet chief of internal security, Lavrenti P. Beria, was purged from the Communist hierarchy in Russia.

Ten years ago: President John F. Kennedy urged support of his long-term foreign aid program, saying it was vital to our own security.

Five years ago: Police in Greece fired on wheat farmers demonstrating for increased government subsidies.

Man Arrested; Dynamite Melted

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — Police held Elmer Steele, 45, of Round County, Ky., on charges of illegal possession of explosives Friday after they were forced to evacuate most of a block Thursday night because a quantity of dynamite in the man's parked truck had melted into highly explosive, nitroglycerine.

The explosives were removed by a demolition team from Lockbourne Air Force Base in Columbus.

Police said Steele was picked up in a neighborhood tavern after the explosives were discovered. Steele said he used the dynamite to blow out stumps in rural Butler County.

By JEFFREY HART

In a number of columns I have been dealing with the inroads an essentially non-religious secular liberalism has been making on both the Catholic and the Protestant churches. These columns have evoked thoughtful responses from a great many readers, and I would like to comment now on some of the issues they have raised.

(1) No, a "responsible concern for the world, for the secular order" is in no way un-Christian, nor would I dream of suggesting that it is. A concern for the world is a direct implication of the doctrine of the Incarnation. In addition, there are important parts of the New Testament that suggest the complete propriety of such concern for the world. To cite only one example: the parable of the Good Samaritan. The Good Samaritan, at great personal risk, went to the aid of the man who had fallen among thieves on the road to Samaria — that route being known as thief-infested in those days. His concern and his courage were praiseworthy. By extension, that parable might also suggest that it would have been relevant to advocate the establishment of an effective police force on the road to Samaria. By another such extension, that parable could be cited as the foundation for a specifically Christian argument justifying aid to a nation, such as South Vietnam, which is the victim of a "war of liberation."

(2) Nevertheless, despite such parables and other passages, despite, indeed, the considerable amount of consideration given to ethics and to political theory by Church fathers and theologians, it is clear that Christianity in its essence looks beyond the world. You need only compare the relative proportion of secular and political matter in the New Testament with the amount of consideration given to the state of the soul, and the answer will be obvious. The Christian tradition does not disavow the world, in the manner of certain Oriental mysticisms, but it resolutely looks beyond the world, beyond time, to eternity.

(3) Since this is obviously true, an easy standard therefore exists for judging the spiritual condition of a given cleric or a given parish. The standard is straightforward: is the emphasis heavily secular, involved with all sorts of current transient causes, or does the emphasis by and large reflect the proportion demonstrably present in Christian tradition and the Gospels? Does the cleric coddle up to contemporary culture, perhaps to the point where he is indistinguishable from it? Or is a certain distance observable, as if from an awareness of long tradition and from thoughts of eternity?

(4) But, also, the genuine Christian will, perforce, be concerned with the world. How are we to evaluate the specifically secular concerns of the alleged Christian — the political involvement of personalities like the Berrigans and their retinue, of the Rt. Rev. Paul Moore, prospective Episcopal Bishop of New York, or of Bishop Bernard M. Kelly of Providence, who just resigned in an act of protest.

When figures like this come out against the war or claim that the U.S. Government is paranoid and repressive, how are we to tell whether such views emanate from "responsible Christian concern" or are merely derivatives of fashion? dians, Cesar Chavez, the Vietnam government in South Africa — these and a dozen others are completely fashionable items, and not only does it cost you nothing to take the correct position on them, it actually gains you plenty. But there are unfashionable victims around too: the blacks of the Southern Sudan, victims of Moslem genocide; the Tibetans, victims of Chinese cultural genocide; Eskimos of northern Canada, who have health problems; the Arab refugees, rotting away decade after decade. mileage in them. Has the great man's "Christian concern" embraced them, or even one of them? Or, to put it a bit differently: A thoughtful Christian, dealing with reality, which is complex, might be expected to balk at at least one "correct" conclusion. He might, lo! sorrowfully concludes that South Vietnam should be helped. Has the clerical luminary broken ranks once with fashion?

If the answer is no, well, you have your diagnosis. He worships not God but the Zeitgeist, the most barbaric of all the idols.

NEW YORK (AP) — Although fringe benefits account for more than one-quarter of many paychecks, it is unlikely that many of the recipients could pass a true-false quiz on the subject.

The absence of knowledge is particularly obvious in regard to private pension plans, which are now estimated to total $130 billion in assets, a sum whose management and mismanagement is causing concern in Congress.

Yet the information is available, but not always in the right places. Funding reports are made to the Securities and Exchange Commission, to the Labor Department and to accountants and lawyers.

But in many cases the employee directly concerned gets no report until he requests one.

Who is to blame? Clearly there is a certain apathy on the part of workers.

But management must assume much of the blame. It simply has not found a clear, easy method of communicating the intricate details of its plans. Its attitude appears to be dutiful rather than enthusiastic.

"Even if an employee did get the information, I am not sure it would be meaningful," said James Attwood, senior vice president and pension expert at Equitable Life Assurance Society.

The communication of pension information is "perfunctory rather than meaningful," he believes.

What should the employee ask for if he does decide to call the personnel department or write to the home office? Attwood feels some of the most important questions are concerned with benefits. When do you become covered? Sometimes the program doesn't cover the new employee during his first years of service. Sometimes an employee isn't covered for disability benefits until he attains a certain age.

When are you vested? When are your rights to benefits ironclad, even should you leave the company's service? Do you know the dollar amount and conditions of payment if you do leave? And if you remove your own contributions, will you lose those made for you by the company?

How are your benefits calculated? On the basis of your average salary? Or on your salary at the time your employment terminates?

There is almost always a death benefit after retirement. Does your plan provide a benefit for death before retirement?

Every employee should be aware of the answers to such questions, Attwood states. But benefits should be only part of their concern. They have a vital interest in understanding the funding of their plan.

In some plans, the funds are invested solely in the company's own stock. In others, dangerous and even fraudulent loans are made. And many plans are not insured.

Which brings up these correlative questions: What if the company goes out of business? What if the loans are not paid back? What if some of the investments fail to yield the rate of return projected for them?

Doctor Surplus?

As the nation turns toward critical evaluation of its health care services, many suggestions are being heard. One of the more unusual comes from a medical educator, who says what the nation needs is not more doctors but a better health delivery system.

In an article in the Journal of the American Medical Association, Dr. Kenneth B. Castleton, vice president of the University of Utah, wrote that medical schools ought to halt expansion temporarily.

"The time has come when we should put a stop to expansion at least long enough until we can re-evaluate the problem and reassess the need," he said.

An oversupply of physicians, Dr. Castleton says, could "lead to over-doctoring, unnecessary calls and examinations, overutilization of X-ray procedures and laboratory tests, the lowering of professional ethics and fierce competition leading to solicitation, fee-splitting and inducement."

Doctors in oversupply? What of crowded waiting rooms, communities which are unable to attract even a single physician, doctors' offices which refuse to take new patients except in emergencies, and hospitals which have difficulty filling their staffs?

Admittedly some of the conditions outlined by Dr. Castleton would occur if the nation were fortunate enough to have a surplus of doctors. But that time is not yet.

Possible Tax Cut

With the fiscal year just ended expected to tally one of the larger federal budget deficits in recent decades, this might seem like an unrealistic time to be talking tax cuts. But that is the talk in some circles in Washington, and the reasoning goes something like this:

The economy is undergoing major changes, including the phaseout of the war, a slowdown in space spending and curtailment of other activities, such as the SST cancellation. With 6 per cent of the work force unemployed, major industries unsettled and large numbers of servicemen returning to the labor force, increased consumer spending is needed to bolster the economy.

A tax cut, proponents of the move say, would enable the consumer to spend more. His increased spending would filter through the economy, creating new jobs and lowering unemployment. And just possibly increasing tax revenues.

Safety Equipment

With warm weather firmly entrenched, who can blame Massachusetts American Automobile Association officials for turning their attention to hot pants — all in the name of safety, of course.

The group has endorsed the latest fashions for women drivers because, it says, such things as maxi coats, midi skirts, bell bottoms and spike heels all tend to become entangled in the foot pedals.

That's all very true, of course, but what of the safety aspects of pedestrian hot pants?

At a time when traffic congestion demands utmost concentration from the driver, what is the poor male behind the wheel to do when he sees one of those safety-equipped creatures glide by?

"THIS IS THE last time," vowed a prominent suburbanite, "that I take my son to Vermont for a winter vacation. At least, he taught me what a ski bum is. He fell down more often in the bar than on the slopes."

A dear and generally careful and methodical friend of mine recently left a brief case crammed with important papers in a taxi-cab, and frantic at his oversight, inserted an ad in the classified column of the New York Times, offering a reward for its return.

Impatiently awaiting results, he rushed to the phone when it rang the next morning, predicting to his wife, "Somebody's found my brief case!" Sure enough, the voice on the other end asked, "Are you the man who advertised the loss of your case in the Times?" "Indeed I am," answered my friend eagerly. Then the caller continued, "Wouldn't you like to order the same ad run in the Post?"

QUICKIES:

An old pal of New York's popular ex-Mayor Robert Wagner met him at "21" and told him, "I haven't been invited to Gracie Mansion since John Lindsay replaced you." "Think nothing of it," replied Wagner ruefully. "Neither have I!"

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Researchers have worked for many years toward developing "soft" contact lenses which have been found far more comfortable and which can be worn continuously if necessary.

These lenses are referred to as hydrophilic in nature because they have the unusual tendency of absorbing water, making them safer and non-irritating.

In addition, the soft lenses have been found of value in treatment of some diseases and injuries of the eye.

Many who have been unable to wear or tolerate hard contact lenses find the soft ones usable both for vision and cosmetic purposes.

Eye surgeons are enthusiastic about the soft lenses, which have passed the Federal Drug Administration's strict inspection.

The kidney machine, or dialyzer, used for patients with chronic kidney disease who develop the dread complication of uremia, will soon be available in every hospital large or small all over the world.

It is about time. The matter of "who shall live and who shall die" has been a decision which placed an awesome burden upon mankind generally and upon doctors in particular.

When the remarkable life-saving dialyzer was first developed about 15 years ago, it was virtually impossible to fill the demand for its use.

It was a pathetic reflection indeed upon our economy and our social growth that money simply was not available for the machines. This created the "who shall live and who shall die" decision in which one patient had to be selected as against another.

We have since broken through the financial barriers and, in a more mature manner, have found the money to create better machines and in sufficient quantity to save all the lives that depend on them.

A tiny instrument known as the "fiberscope" is a tube no more than 1-16th of an inch wide.

It now can be inserted into the kidney in order to see and film its condition, in health and disease.

It was created by Dr. Hisao Takayasu, in Tokyo, and already shows great potential for better diagnosis of kidney conditions.

Man Arrested; Dynamite Melted

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — Police held Elmer Steele, 45, of Round County, Ky., on charges of illegal possession of explosives Friday after they were forced to evacuate most of a block Thursday night because a quantity of dynamite in the man's parked truck had melted into highly explosive, nitroglycerine.

The explosives were removed by a demolition team from Lockbourne Air Force Base in Columbus.

Police said Steele was picked up in a neighborhood tavern after the explosives were discovered. Steele said he used the dynamite to blow out stumps in rural Butler County.

By JEFFREY HART

In a number of columns I have been dealing with the inroads an essentially non-religious secular liberalism has been making on both the Catholic and the Protestant churches. These columns have evoked thoughtful responses from a great many readers, and I would like to comment now on some of the issues they have raised.

(1) No, a "responsible concern for the world, for the secular order" is in no way un-Christian, nor would I dream of suggesting that it is. A concern for the world is a direct implication of the doctrine of the Incarnation. In addition, there are important parts of the New Testament that suggest the complete propriety of such concern for the world. To cite only one example: the parable of the Good Samaritan. The Good Samaritan, at great personal risk, went to the aid of the man who had fallen among thieves on the road to Samaria — that route being known as thief-infested in those days. His concern and his courage were praiseworthy. By extension, that parable might also suggest that it would have been relevant to advocate the establishment of an effective police force on the road to Samaria. By another such extension, that parable could be cited as the foundation for a specifically Christian argument justifying aid to a nation, such as South Vietnam, which is the victim of a "war of liberation."

(2) Nevertheless, despite such parables and other passages, despite, indeed, the considerable amount of consideration given to ethics and to political theory by Church fathers and theologians, it is clear that Christianity in its essence looks beyond the world. You need only compare the relative proportion of secular and political matter in the New Testament with the amount of consideration given to the state of the soul, and the answer will be obvious. The Christian tradition does not disavow the world, in the manner of certain Oriental mysticisms, but it resolutely looks beyond the world, beyond time, to eternity.

(3) Since this is obviously true, an easy standard therefore exists for judging the spiritual condition of a given cleric or a given parish. The standard is straightforward: is the emphasis heavily secular, involved with all sorts of current or transient causes, or does the emphasis by and large reflect the proportion demonstrably present in Christian tradition and the Gospels? Does the cleric cuddle up to contemporary culture, perhaps to the point where he is indistinguishable from it? Or is a certain distance observable, as if from an awareness of long tradition and from thoughts of eternity?

(4) But, also, the genuine Christian will, perforce, be concerned with the world. How are we to evaluate the specifically secular concerns of the alleged Christian — the political involvement of personalities like the Berrigans and their retinue, of the Rt. Rev. Paul Moore, prospective Episcopal Bishop of New York, or of Bishop Bernard M. Kelly of Providence, who just resigned in an act of protest. When figures like this come out against the war or claim that the U.S. Government is paranoid and repressive, how are we to tell whether such views emanate from "responsible Christian concern" or are merely derivatives of fashion?

Boys And Girls In Service

Pfc. Lynn H. Heath, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Heath, 118 Wilson Ave., has completed his basic training at Fort Knox, Ky., and also a course of advanced individual training there. He has been assigned to duties at the Pentagon.

LYNN HEATH

His new service address is: Pfc. Lynn H. Heath 293-487-106, Bldg. 502, Room 21 B, Fort Myer, Virginia.

Airman Daniel L. Spradlin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raleigh Spradlin, 1120 S. Court St., has graduated at Keesler AFB, Miss., from the technical training course for U. S. Air Force space control and warning systems specialists.

Airman Spradlin learned to operate electronic consoles used in space tracking and control systems. He is being assigned to the Philippine Islands, for duty in a unit of the Pacific Air Forces, headquarters for air operations in Southeast Asia, the Far East and Pacific area.

The airman is a 1969 graduate of Circleville High School.

DAVID E. BEARD

Airman David E. Beard, son of Mrs. Lauriel L. Poling, Laurelville, has received his first U.S. Air Force duty assignment after completing basic training at Lackland AFB, Tex. The airman has been assigned to a unit of the Strategic Air Command at Grand Forks AFB, N. D., for training and duty as a security policeman. Airman Beard, a 1969 graduate of Laurelville High School, attended Rio Grande College.

Philip J. Meves, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald E. Meves, Alliance, has been commissioned a second lieutenant upon completion of the U. S. Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps program at Ohio State University.

Lieutenant Meves also received his bachelor of chemical engineering degree. He is a 1966 graduate of Canton (Ohio) Central Catholic High School.

His wife, Patricia, is the daughter of Donald B. Collins, Route 1, Ashville.

Army Major Gary J. Thomerson, son of Mrs. Mattie M. Bell, Bassett, Va., was graduated June 11 from the U.S. Army Command and General Staff College at Ft. Leavenworth, Kan.

Maj. Thomerson was one of 1,247 Army, Navy, Air Force and allied officers who was graduated from the college.

The 10-month course prepares officers for duty as general staff officers in the field in time of war. In to this, officers are instructed in methods of research and formulation of military doctrine.

Commencement speaker was Army General Ralph E. Haines, commanding general of the U. S. Continental Army Command.

The Major, who entered the Army in April 1953, is scheduled to be assigned to the U.S. Army Europe and Seventh Army in Germany. He holds the Army Commendation Medal, two awards of the Air Medal, five awards of the Bronze Star Medal and the Vietnamese Gallantry Cross with Bronze Star.

He is a 1952 graduate of Martinsville High School, Martinsville, Va., and attended the University of Maryland, College Park.

Prior to entering the Army, he was employed by Life Insurance Company of Virginia, Martinsville, as an underwriter.

His wife, Jeanny, lives at 333 Woodlane, Circleville.

Specialist Four John M. Hennis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hennis, is stationed in Italy. His service address is:

Spec. 4 John M. Hennis 291-46-3982, 62nd Engineer Co., Bicezza, Italy, APO New York, N. Y. 09221. His birthday is July 20.

Dennis Sowers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Sowers, 605 Mowrer Road, is a member of the United States Air Force and is taking his basic training at Lackland AFB. His service address is:

DENNIS SOWERS

AB Dennis D. Sowers, SSAN 290-50-7285, CMR No. 5, SQ 3725th Flight 0932, Lackland AFB, Texas 78236.

Specialist Sandra S. Greenlee, daughter of Mrs. Harold Struckman, Route 2, and Gaylord Greenlee Sr., 1154 W. Main St., was recently Selected Wac of the Month. She is stationed at Walter Reed Hospital, Washington D. C.

Miss Greenlee joined the service in December, 1969 and completed basic training at Ft. McClellan, Ala.

She is the barrack sergeant of Ward 113 and also works in Ward 4 at the hospital.

On July 19, she will be promoted to Specialist Five.

Jerry L. Turnage, son of Mr. Herman Turnage, 323 Huston

St., has completed four months of advanced training with the United States Army at Fort Gordon, Ga.. He graduated March 5 as a radio relay carrier and attendant. Upon graduation he was promoted to private first class for his ability and excellent conduct throughout the training. After a 21 day leave his duty took him to Wurzburg, Germany with the 11th Air Defense Signal Battalion. In two months he was promoted to Specialist 4 because of his good conduct and hard work which he set forth. Spec. Turnage is a 1970 graduate of Circleville High School. His service address is: Sp-4 Jerry L. Turnage, Co. B 11th Air Defense Signal Bn., APO New York 09081.

Pickaway Grange

SALT CREEK VALLEY

During program time for the July 6 meeting of Saltcreek Valley Grange, Rebecca Timmons, lecturer, guided fellow members "Around U.S.A." by thinking power.

For the initial feature, each one present told the state they liked best and why. This was followed by four categories of oral tests: (1) identity of state to many famous people, (2) citing the largest city with a random listing of states, (3) geographical location of historical facts and items, (4) clues for identity of place of action for a miscellany of "this and that."

The master, Francis Fraunfelder, presided during the business portion of the session.

Donna Beougher, chairman of women's activities, read a communication from John Dowler, treasurer of Pomona Building Fund, which gave details for operation of the Food Service Canteen in the Grange Building August 5 of county fair week. A follow up decision was to make this the last time for supervised service.

Lists were passed for volunteer help for gate service and for donors of pies and cakes. Eight p.m. of July 30 was the time set to begin assembly of the booth exhibit for the County Fair.

Leora Sayre expressed appreciation for the planter and correspondence received while at Berger Hospital. A cooperative message was prepared to send Mary Wolfe at Berger Hospital for special treatment.

An invitation was read from Fairfield County Grange Youth to their ninth annual Prince and Princess Pageant to be held July 24 at Violet Grange Hall, Pickerington. A message from Paul Dunkle, deputy master, informed that 15 double rooms had been reserved at Holiday Inn, Charleston, W. Va., for Pickaway County Grangers attending a National Grange November 13 and 14.

Red, white and blue was the table decoration for the concluding social interlude during which refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Collins Sr. and Darlene Collins.

A real fun evening, neat, tuff.

North, east, south and west they came this past weekend to visit with Mrs. Omer (Della) Lemming and also at the new trailer home of Mr. and Mrs. Harmon Lemming. Gathered at Grandma Lemming's Friday for dinner were the Glenn Lemmings of League City, Texas (they also were Monday overnight guests before leaving for home Tuesday a.m.). Mr. and Mrs. Jerry (Marabel Lemming) Martin and three of Wilmington, Delaware, Mr. and Mrs. Robert (Nancy Lemming) McDonald and four of Warsaw, Indiana, Mr. and Mrs. James (Janet Lemming) Sells and three of Columbus, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Lemming and son of Jacksonville, Fla. Also present was the childrens mother, Mrs. Dorothy Lemming of Groveport and father Harmon. The Eugene Lemmings and Dorothy were here Tuesday a.m. to bid bon voyage to the Glenn Lemmings and their two. A total of 13 great-grandchildren received their fair share of love and attention from Granny Lemming. She is the classic example of what grandmothers are all about.

Mr. and Mrs. John Bethel of Lexington, Ky. were Sunday evening supper guests of David and Marabel Drummond, Sandee, Connie, and little Joy. On Monday the Drummonds had Doyen and Kathleen Bode of Adelphi as visitors.

Teresa Graffis has been busy visiting with friends these past several days. She gets home long enough to get clean clothes. First she was a guest of Kathy Schleich, then she was with Susie Welsh and now it's off to Carroll, Ohio for a few days with Brenda Benson.

Mr. and Mrs. Creighton Anderson and daughter of Houston, Texas are the house guests of parents Luther and Hattie Anderson. Luther is much improved after a serious disturbance involving a blood clot on an eye that needed extensive treatment.

Fourth of July always is a time for social gatherings and no more than that was needed for a picnic at the country home of John and Thelma Hooks. Their large yard with its lovely pond adjacent is ideal. Enjoying the day were Glenn and Bev Whitten, Janie and Mike, Gene and Kate Schleich and boys, Charles and Ellen Rittinger and twins, Eddie and Ruth James and their two, Mary Alice Greenwood, the former Margie Hooks and her family, Pat Clark and even yours truly got a taste of Kate's cabbage rolls with a grape jelly sauce (scrumptious.)

Charles and Ethel Galloway and cuties, Dena and Brenda entertained with their annual 4th of July cook-out for family and friends and adding a special glow to the festivities this year was the happiness of Brenda being chosen as an attendant at the Ashville Little Miss contest. Really great, isn't it?

The Deercreek Homemakers Variety Group plan a tour of behind the scenes at Lazarus and also the new Ohio Historical Museum on July 21. Leaving Williamsport in private cars they are scheduled to be in Columbus by 10:30 a.m. Anyone wishing to be a part of the day is most welcome and for further details please contact Mary Clark at 474-7970.

Holiday guests of Cotton and Helen Timmons were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Timmons of Columbus (he is a veterinarian, there) Their son Tim has been helping granddad with the farming this summer and he remained here for further duties.

The Ray Smileys of Dayton were here Tuesday for one of their frequent visits with his mother, Mrs. Charles Smiley.

Keep in mind the flea market to be held Saturday, July 24, between the hours of 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. and the auction to be held at the end of the day. The TOPS group plans to have a "set-up" and also Sorosis that I know of locally and there will be many more to participate. Don't miss this!

Must not forget the exciting bike races sponsored by the American Legion this Sunday, July 11, either. See you there.

Fourteen members of the Westfall Citizens Advisory Committee (which totals 30 members), ten interested citizens, four board members, Mr. Scheerer, Dist. Supt. and Mr. George Jamison (of Kellam & Foley, architects) met in the Biology room Thursday evening at Westfall school for the very important purpose of discussing proposals to eliminate some of the problems facing us. First presented were two considerations — Grades Kindergarten thru 6 — New southern elementary school ($1,012,000) new northern elementary school ($1,089,000) (locations not determined) — grades 7 & 8, Monroe and or Jackson; Grades 9 12 existing high school — abandon Williamsport.

As of July 6, 1971 — Grades Kindergarten thru 5 — new elementary with renovated present gym at Williamsport ($420,050) — renovate Darby, Monroe, Jackson ($357,880); grades 6-7-8 — new middle school at high school site — accommodate 600 students (this accounts for district growth) ($1,324,469) — grades 9 & 12 existing high school. Total bonding capacity at present is $2,102,400 (9 per cent limit) Comment was made that state will allow to bond in excess. After much discussion there evolved three proposals recommended for the board to consider and decide upon which direction to take at Monday evening's board meeting. These are: Build a new school at Williamsport ith revisions in the classroom capacity which brings the cost to roughly $542,000 and renovate the Darby, Monroe and Jackson school as recommended in the Building Inspection Bureau, Inc. report cost $268,000. Total cost $810,000. Another proposal: renovation of Williamsport, Monroe, Darby and Jackson schools (no new building) Total cost $815,500. The other was to accept the package as presented under July 6. Much discussion also concerned whether to bond or levy and whether to hold a special election or go with the November General. A motion was made to bond and to hold a special election — majority vote, aye. There is not time for the respective committees to hold a general meeting so

22 States Either Implement Or Consider Welfare Cuts

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a clear signal of financial distress, 22 states are implementing or considering welfare cutbacks, according to a federal survey.

Findings of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare study indicate a dramatic reversal of the steady, 30-year climb in public assistance levels for the poor.

"This means one thing," commented an HEW welfare specialist. "States are running out of money and are looking for ways to cut back."

Welfare is a major budget item for most states. State and local governments are spending more than $7 billion a year on the 14 million persons receiving social and medical assistance.

According to the HEW survey, benefit reductions of up to 20 per cent have taken or are scheduled to take effect this year in 10 states. Reductions were listed as possible in an additional 12 states.

Among the 22 states were this is being presented here in order that each and everyone of you can have a voice in the final countdown. Think these proposals over carefully and then call either of the board members Troy McPherson (877-4071), Richard Redman (869-2621), Eugene Bush (986-3772) Jean Lett (877-4827), Shirley Bowser (986-3891) and remember she is recuperating from recent surgery) Mr. Shearer at the high school (986-2911) and cast your vote as to which you think should be given prime consideration. Time is of the essence . . . the time to act is NOW. Please voice your opinion so the board members can be given a fair cross-section of how folks really feel. They are sincerely trying to approach a decision that will be as fair as possible and educationally advantageous to our children. Do not forget that the children are our most important consideration. It is your responsibility and your duty. Don't sit back and say nothing and then gripe later.

Thought for the week: It is wisdom to believe the heart. (Geo. Santayana)

New York and Minnesota, considered by federal officials as traditional leaders in expanding welfare benefits.

The survey found cutbacks in a number of forms: Alabama has dropped 6,000 families from welfare rolls. Maine eliminated its unemployed-parent program. Rhode Island is dropping two benefit items. Kansas plans to slash payment levels 20 per cent Sept. 1.

The other states listed for definite reduction were Georgia, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, Nebraska and South Dakota.

By contrast, the report listed benefit increases this year in only four states and the District of Columbia. They are Hawaii, Mississippi, Nevada and Oklahoma. Increases were considered possible in Maryland, Ohio and Wisconsin.

The 12 states listed as considering assistance reduction are Arizona, California, Connecticut, Delaware, Idaho, Illinois, Minnesota, New Hampshire, Oregon, Pennsylvania and Vermont.

Viet General Denies Trafficking In Drugs

SAIGON (AP) — Maj. Gen. Ngo Dzu denied Friday that he is a "chief trafficker" in the narcotics trade and challenged his accuser, U.S. Rep. Robert H. Steele, to document his charges.

"I deny it completely," Dzu said in an interview at his home in Saigon. He said he came to Saigon from his regional command in Pleiku to discuss the charge with President Nguyen Van Thieu, a political ally.

Pickaway Grange

SALT CREEK VALLEY

During program time for the July 6 meeting of Salt Creek Valley Grange, Rebecca Timmons, lecturer, guided fellow members "Around U.S.A." by thinking power.

For the initial feature, each one present told the state they liked best and why. This was followed by four categories of oral tests: (1) identity of state to many famous people, (2) citing the largest city with a random listing of states, (3) geographical location of historical facts and items, (4) clues for identity of place of action for a miscellany of "this and that."

The master, Francis Fraunfelter, presided during the business portion of the session.

Donna Beougher, chairman of women's activities, read a communication from John Dowler, treasurer of Pomona Building Fund, which gave details for operation of the Food Service Canteen in the Grange Building August 5 of county fair week. A follow up decision was to make this the last time for supervised service.

Lists were passed for volunteer help for gate service and for donors of pies and cakes. Eight p.m. of July 30 was the time set to begin assembly of the booth exhibit for the County Fair.

Leora Sayre expressed appreciation for the planter and correspondence received while at Berger Hospital. A cooperative message was prepared to send Mary Wolfe at Berger Hospital for special treatment.

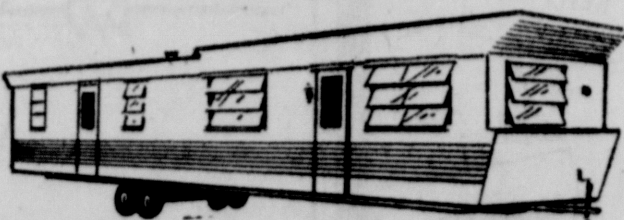

An invitation was read from Fairfield County Grange Youth to their ninth annual Prince and Princess Pageant to be held July 24 at Violet Grange Hall, Pickerington. A message from Paul Dunkle, deputy master, informed that 15 double rooms had been reserved at Holiday Inn, Charleston, W. Va., for Pickaway County Grangers attending National Grange November 13 and 14.

Red, white and blue was the table decoration for the concluding social interlude during which refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Collins Sr. and Darlene Collins.

Purse Snatcher Startles Victims

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A 19-year-old Cleveland woman allegedly stood at bus stops in various stages of undress to startle women so he could snatch their purses has been indicted on three counts of robbery and one count of assault.

A Cuyahoga County grand jury Friday indicted Melvin Staples on charges of taking purses from three women and assaulting a woman who resisted.

All of the purse snatchings — which netted only $76 — occurred in daylight, police said.

Wedding Vows Exchanged In St. Joseph's Church

MRS. JOSEPH JAMES BIDWELL

The wedding of Miss Karen Sue Furbee and Mr. Joseph James Bidwell took place 2:30 p.m. June 6 at St. Joseph's Catholic Church. Msgr. George Buchmann performed the double ring ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Furbee, Route 2, Racine, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde J. Bidwell, Route 1, Williamsport.

The altar was graced with four small bouquets of white daisies and two large bouquets of white gladioli completed the decorations. A program of music preceded the ceremony presented by Mr. Thomas Sullivan, organist and Mr. Daryl Wagner, vocalist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride selected for her wedding day a floor length white gown with matching train. The lace covered bodice featured a wedding ring neckline and full length sleeves ending in small ruffles at the wrist. Lace edged the bottom of the skirt and matching appliques enhanced the skirt in rows. The bride's mantilla of illusion was edged in matching lace and flowed softly to the length of her train. She carried a bouquet of white carnations, daisies, snowdrift mums, leather leaf and white ribbon, centered with an orchid corsage.

Miss Linda See, maid of honor, was attired in a mint green floor length dress and carried a bouquet of white daisies. Bridesmaids, Miss Jan Schilling and Miss Diane Weisenborn, a cousin of the bride, were dressed identically to the honor attendant and carried bouquets of yellow daisies.

Kim Bidwell, cousin of the groom, was flower girl and Richard Furbee, brother of the bride, was ring bearer.

Mr. Marion Bidwell was best man for his brother and Mr.

Toothpaste New Target For Nader

WASHINGTON (AP) — The maker of the nation's top-selling toothpaste terms as misleading a statement by Ralph Nader that stannous fluoride toothpastes stain teeth.

"The research which Mr. Nader cites does not show that Crest stains teeth," a Procter & Gamble spokesman said Thursday.

The statement came after Nader charged in a letter to the Federal Trade Commission that studies in the United States and England have shown toothpastes with chemicals leave a brown stain on teeth four times as often as those without it.

"The studies he quotes, which are more than four years old," a Procter & Gamble spokesman said, "refer to staining of debris and other material on the teeth which should be, and normally are, removed in proper brushing."

Nader's letter to FTC Chairman Miles W. Kirkpatrick mentioned Crest specifically, along with Stripe, Pepsodent and Pepples.

"The danger exists in all stannous fluoride toothpastes," Nader said. "A warning should be given on toothpaste tubes to alert the public to this hazard."

Nader asked the government also to halt advertisements for Colgate's toothpaste as a "tooth toughener" because they are not supported by scientific evidence.

Reds Turn Back Mets, Oust Seaver In 6-4 Win

CINCINNATI (AP) — "It was Seaver's worst performance of the year," said New York Manager Gil Hodges after the Cincinnati Reds chased him in the fifth inning winning 6-4.

"Seaver simply didn't have it. He doesn't have too many like that," said Hodges, whose Mets have lost four straight and 8 of 9.

In winning, the Reds broke their seven game slump and suffered two more injuries in the effort.

Dave Concepcion suffered a jammed finger crashing into Bud Harrelson in the second inning and Clay Carroll, who grounded in the ninth inning, vowed that he'll not miss the All Star Game at Detroit.

"I don't care if they have to tape me four times over. I'm going to be there," said the Red reliever about his first invitation to the classic.

Red second baseman Woody

Woodward clipped Seaver for two run scoring hits, and had seven straight against the New York ace.

The Reds got home runs from George Foster, his sixth of the year and the first of the year off Met reliever Tug McGraw, and relief pitcher Wayne Granger, in the eighth off Ray Sederick.

"It was the first one I ever hit in professional ball," laughed Granger. "I was using Lee May's bat, too, maybe that had something to do with it."

"Anyway, I was so excited about it I got in trouble in the last inning."

The Mets nearly got the game back in the last inning getting two men on and a run in when Carroll came in. Carroll twisted his ankle fielding Tim Lincecum's bunt and throwing Ken Singleton out at third.

On the next play Don Dyer hit a short fly to right which Pete Rose lost in the lights. Rose picked up the ball and threw out Foli at second. "That was the turning point of the game," said Hodges. Rose then caught Gerry Grote's fly to end the game.

Ross Grimsley, picking up his fifth win against four losses, gave up three runs to the Mets on three walks and two hits in the first inning.

"My control was way off at the beginning. I was coming off the mound to the side throwing high. I did the same thing again in the seventh but I was tired by then." The Reds replaced him with Granger.

Sparky Anderson could only shake his head when asked about Granger's homer. It was his first hit of the year, and only his third time at bat.

"I think Granger simply lost his concentration in the ninth, after that. Everything was up in the air."

A-MAYS-ING — Wonderful Willie Mays, the 20-year veteran of the Giants, gets himself an error on this play at first during rout by Houston Astros and then was lifted in the next inning for a pinch hitter—the first time in Willie's career he was replaced at bat in regular game. Runner is pitcher Larry Dierker of the Astros.

Steve Renko's control was away for a little while, but there's no place like home to bring out the best in a pitcher.

"I was one pitch away from leaving," said Renko, who struggled with five walks through the first three innings, then found home plate and pitched a one-hit beauty as Montreal beat Philadelphia 3-0 Friday night.

Renko was around at the end, thanks to Manager Gene Mauch and catcher John Bateman. Mauch gave him more time—and Bateman gave him a timely tip.

"I haven't been too smart rushing to my bullpen lately and I decided to give Renko a little more time," said Mauch. "When you are not winning regularly, you tend to get a little too tight. He was overly cautious."

Bateman helped him find his control.

The Cincinnati Reds beat the New York Mets 6-4; the St. Louis Cardinals took a 5-2, 9-5 two-night doubleheader from the Houston Astros; the Pittsburgh Pirates walloped the Atlanta Braves 11-2; the San Diego Padres swept the Chicago Cubs 1-0 and 7-2 and the San Francisco Giants turned back the Los Angeles Dodgers 7-4.

Steve Carlton won his 12th game for St. Louis in the opener as Joe Torre's two-out double drove in a tie-breaking run in the third inning. Julian Javier's two triples drove in four runs to carry the Cardinals in the second game.

Willie Stargell and Richie Hebner cracked home runs and Manny Sanguillen belted a bases-loaded triple as Pittsburgh blasted Atlanta and pulled off a triple play in the process. Stargell's blast, a three-run shot, gave him 29 homers for the year and 85 runs batted in.

Ed Spiezio drove in the only run of the game with a sacrifice fly in the fifth inning and Bob Miller provided tough relief work in the ninth in San Diego's first-game triumph. Steve Arlin pitched a five-hitter and Nate Colbert knocked in four runs with three hits in the second game for the Padres.

Dick Dietz' two-run single knocked in the tying and go-ahead runs as San Francisco exploded for six runs in the ninth to beat Los Angeles.

Ladies Classic All Tied Up

HORSHAM, Pa. (AP) — Kathy Whitworth, efficient as a bank president and with the cool to match, and Jane Blalock, who reminds you of the girl next door, tied for the first round lead in the $25,000 George Washington Ladies Golf Classic.

The 32-year-old Miss Whitworth, leading all-time money winning woman golfer with four tournament victories already this year, and 25-year-old Miss Blalock, each shot five-under-par 68s Friday in the first round of the 54-hole tournament.

Miss Whitworth took her position in stride. She wasn't bothered by the 95 degree heat and humidity to match. She putted well and that was it. "If you're not putting well, you just don't make it," she said in her business-like approach to the game.

3 Featured In Handicap

CINCINNATI (AP) — Big Spade, Back Menaw and Palsene Beth were featured in today's $10,000 Rhinelander Handicap at River Downs, a 7 1/2 furlong race for three-year-olds and up. Winged affair won the six furlongs, $2,500 feature Friday in 1:11 paying $6.60, $3.60 and $2.80. Pencil Copy was second, $4.60 and $4 and Pleasant Ruler, third, $3.80.

Little Flitter and Mai Amour, 8-10, paid $123.40 in the daily double.

The crowd of 4,935 wagered $338,715.

TOUCH OF ROYALTY—At least in this case, for Lee Trevino, the hot U.S. Open and Canadian Open champ, does his bit out of the sand at the Royal Birkdale course at Southport, England, site of the British Open event.

Trevino In British Open Lead; Jacklin, Lu Close

SOUTHPORT, England (AP) — Lee Trevino, striding toward his third major golf championship in four weeks, went into the last round of the British Open Golf tournament today, one stroke ahead of the field and confident that he's tamed a couple of tigers.

"I birdied the last two par fives in my 69 round yesterday," said the Mexican-American, who has picked up the

U.S. and Canadian titles and is hungry for the British crown. "Before play started I said that the man who could birdie the long holes is a winner," Trevino said. "Every par five here at Royal Birkdale is really a good par four with the exception of the 15th."

Trevino had 208 after 54 holes—11 under par—and held a one-stroke lead over Liang Huan Lu of Taiwan and home town boy Tony Jacklin for whom thousands of fans are rooting—even to the extent of cheering when Trevino missed putts.

The onetime U.S. Marine, angry enough to "want to go into the gallery with my putter," turned his displeasure to the course, birdied three of the last four holes and stormed past Lu—who had already finished—and Jacklin.

Lu shot a 69 in the third round for a 209 and Jacklin had 70 for the same figure after 54 holes.

Gary Player of South Africa, winner of everything that matters in golf, shot a 71 and was a menacing figure at 212 along with Craig Deyou of England.

Roberto de Vicenzo of Argentina, the winner in 1967; Dale Hayes, the young South African, and England's 23-year-old Peter Oosterhuis all were on 213. Oosterhuis set a course record with a stunning seven-under-par 66 Friday.

Orioles Trip Tribe, 4-1

BALTIMORE (AP) — Even the old go-go Chicago White Sox would have been proud of the Baltimore Orioles' performance.

In beating the Cleveland Indians 4-1 Friday night, the Orioles scored their runs on an infield out, a passed ball, a hit batsman and a sacrifice fly. Baltimore crammed three of its meager five hits into a first-inning rally which produced three runs, but none sent a runner home.

The Orioles left 16 runners stranded, nine in scoring position, and three times had budding rallies and with bases-loaded strike outs.

Winner Jim Palmer, 11-4, struck out four times while leaving nine runners stranded, but he fanned nine Indians and recorded his first victory since June 23. One of Cleveland's five hits was Graig Nettles' 14th home run in the seventh.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Grandpa Jim came from third in the stretch to win the $6,000 Invitational Handicap trot by a nose Friday night at Scioto Downs.

The winner of the featured ninth trotted the mile in 2:02.4-5 and paid $3.80, $2.60 and $2.20.

Trevino In British Open Lead; Jacklin, Lu Close

SOUTHPORT, England (AP) — Lee Trevino, striding toward his third major golf championship in four weeks, went into the last round of the British Open Golf tournament today, one stroke ahead of the field and confident that he's tamed a couple of tigers.

"I birdied the last two par fives in my 69 round yesterday," said the Mexican-American, who has picked up the

Orioles Trip Tribe, 4-1

BALTIMORE (AP) — Even the old go-go Chicago White Sox would have been proud of the Baltimore Orioles' performance.

In beating the Cleveland Indians 4-1 Friday night, the Orioles scored their runs on an infield out, a passed ball, a hit batsman and a sacrifice fly.

Baltimore crammed three of its meager five hits into a first-inning rally which produced three runs, but none sent a runner home.

The Orioles left 16 runners stranded, nine in scoring position, and three times had budding rallies end with bases-loaded strike outs.

Winner Jim Palmer, 11-4, struck out four times while leaving nine runners stranded, but he fanned nine Indians and recorded his first victory since June 23. One of Cleveland's 15 hits was Graig Nettles' 14th home run in the seventh.

Grandpa Jim Wins Handicap At Scioto Downs

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Grandpa Jim came from third in the stretch to win the $6,000 Invitational Handicap trot by a nose Friday night at Scioto Downs.

The winner of the featured ninth trotted the mile in 2:02 4/5 and paid $3.80, $2.60 and $2.20.

A's Top Angels In 20 Innings

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Oakland Athletics gave the California Angels 20 innings to perform a miracle, and then turned to their own little angel—Angel Mangual, bless him.

Mangual, a rookie at this business, put the Angels out of their misery, and the A's, too, for that matter, early this morning when he ended the longest scoreless game in American League history.

His single with two out and two on in the bottom of the 20th inning—just before the game would have been suspended by curfew—must have seemed like a miracle to the A's for Oakland's 1-0 victory over the Angels.

Oakland owner Charles Finley even stayed up for the ending, and was so happy he called the clubhouse with order for Mangual to go out and buy a $200 suit and charge it to Finley.

Mangual's hit, suit and the 20 innings overshadowed an amazing performance by little Freddie Patek, who hit for the cycle in slugging the Kansas City Royals to a 6-3 victory over the Minnesota Twins.

In other AL games, Baltimore beat Cleveland 4-1, the New York Yankees upended Boston 5-2, the Chicago White Sox tripped Milwaukee 4-1 and

Won't Sell Colts, Says Rosenbloom

BALTIMORE (AP) — Owner Carroll Rosenbloom says he won't sell the Baltimore Colts football team unless son Steve, the new president, "becomes too unhappy."

"He has been brought up all his life as a Colt," Rosenbloom said of his 27-year-old son. "All he wants is to be in football and he wants to stay (in Baltimore)."

The elder Rosenbloom made the comments Friday in answer to a published story from Los Angeles that he would sell the Colts this year and attempt to buy the Rams.

According to the story by Melvin Durslag of the Hearst Headline Service, one of three prospective buyers for the Colts would buy the Rams and then trade them for the Colts.

Durslag said if Rosenbloom sold the Colts outright, he would have to pay a sizable capital gains tax on the National Football League team he has headed since 1953.

Under a trade, the story said, "the law presumably would permit him to forestall the tax payment until such time as he disposed of the Rams."

Rosenbloom stepped out as president of the Baltimore Colts this year and turned the operation over to Steve, although he retains the stock and is chairman of the board.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

'Abby, You Know How People Talk'

DEAR ABBY: There is a young married woman (she is also a mother) who I feel is damaging the reputation of a fine young bachelor minister in our community.

This woman goes to his house daily to do his house cleaning, and she stays most of the afternoon to do the bookkeeping for the parish. I know this minister is above doing anything wrong, but you know how people talk.

This woman's staying around to work on the books makes it difficult for anyone else to come and talk with the minister when they need his help. How can she be told she should do the book work at her own home? It would be much better for the pastor's reputation, and it would at least give some others a chance.

A FRIEND
DEAR FRIEND: I doubt that anyone who needs the minister's help would be discouraged from seeking it because the book-keeper was under the same roof. Are you honestly concerned about the minister's reputation? Or is it "the others" who aren't getting a chance?

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of parents who allow their children to ask guests for money?

While visiting recently, my host's 3-year-old toddled out with her piggy bank and requested a donation. When I said I had no pennies, she peered into my open purse and said, "OK then give me a dime or a quarter."

Chicken-hearted, I gave her some change while the parents smiled indulgently, and the mother said, "Isn't that cute? She always does that when we have company."

Abby, I like youngsters, but I disapprove of their begging. Or am I just an old fogey?

IRRITATED IN ANAHEIM.
DEAR IRRITATED: I'm with you. Too bad you are so chicken-hearted because you aren't helping the child by complaining to me. Her parents should be frightened out.

DEAR ABBY: I've been having a real battle with myself. I've been married for 10 years, have had two babies and I have completely lost my figure. My bosom is so flat and saggy I just hate to look at myself in the mirror.

My husband hasn't shown any signs of being dissatisfied with me the way I am, but what man wouldn't appreciate a round, firm, fully-packed wife? (I never was very big up there, but now I don't have a thing.)

I know a good plastic surgeon who does silicone implants and I would like to have it done. Should I surprise my husband and have the operation when he is out of town on one of his business trips? (He's gone for five days every six weeks.) I have my own money.

DEAR FLAT: Don't "surprise" your husband. Better yet, take him to the surgeon so he will know exactly what is involved. Many surgeons refuse to perform that type of surgery without the knowledge and consent of the patient's husband.

DEAR ABBY: Don't you think it is extremely rude to ask a 40-year-old bachelor why he has never married?

FRISCO
DEAR FRISCO: Yes. Especially if you think you know.

Committee Minority Claims CBS Feud Like 'Inquisition'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The minority report from the House Commerce Committee, which is recommending citation of CBS for contempt of Congress, says the congressional probe of a controversial network documentary "smacks of inquisition, not inquiry."

The thirteen committee members who voted against a contempt citation spelled out their objections in a 38-page report. Twenty-five members voted to cite both CBS and its president, Frank Stanton, but the majority's formal report has not been issued.

A vote by the full House is expected Tuesday.

"The point is, the subpoena is not narrowed to the specific allegations respecting 'manipulative techniques,' 'rearrangement of the words of an individual,' or making one appear to deliver a statement which he did not in fact deliver," the minority report said Friday.

They are directed at the whole process of editing and selecting and rejecting," the 13 objectors said.

The network has refused to provide edited-out portions of its controversial, award-winning documentary, "The Selling of the Pentagon."

The minority report gave no judgement on the charges against CBS, but said if Congress really wanted to draw conclusions, it already has enough material to do so.

The real purpose of the congressional investigation, the report said, is to set government standards for a standard of truth.

"There is not only explicit constitutional prohibition but also a long history of court precedent that forbids restraints on how a newsman's judgement is exercised in the formation of a news report," the minority report said.

"Prying into his notebook after the fact or setting up formal guidelines prior to publication goes against the spirit of these guarantees."

Born March 14, 1908 in Pike County, she was the daughter of Thomas M. and Etta Mae Rose Reisinger.

She is survived by her husband, Mr. William Elmer Weaver, three daughters, Mrs. Thomas (Ina) Rittenhouse, Mrs. Eugene (Emma) Fletcher, Columbus; Mrs. Jack (Annalou) Howsman, Williamsport; two sons, Charles T. Weaver, Circleville; William Weaver, Clarksburg, 14 grandchildren and one great-grandson.

Services will be 10 a.m. Monday at the Fisher Funeral Home, Frankfort with the Rev. Farmer officiating. Burial will be in Brown's Chapel Cemetery, Clarksburg.

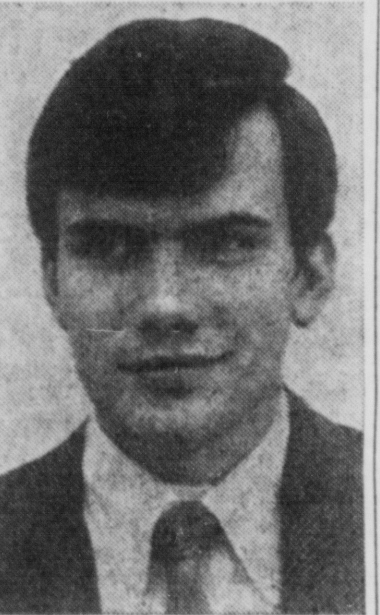

Friends may call at the funeral home beginning 3 p.m. Sunday.

River Craft Tolls To Be Fought

CINCINNATI (AP) — The prospect of tolls on Ohio River commercial and pleasure craft brought cries of opposition and predictions of spiraling costs Friday from Cincinnati inter-ests.

Louis Fiore, president of the Cincinnati-based Ohio River Co., the world's largest river barge line, said, "If we're forced to pay a toll, we would obviously have to raise our rates and Cincinnati would be at a regional marketing disadvantage. "We are going to be against it and in my opinion, most of Congress agrees with us."

The tolls were recommended in a study by Robert Burns, economist for the U. S. Department of Transportation who noted a users tax for waterways has been under consideration by every administration since Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Set Speedup In Cleveland Drug Trials

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Judge Frank J. Gorman says the county's top 10 heroin dealers will be brought to trial within 60 days and that court action against drug pushers will be speeded up.

"I am going to ask Lt. (Burt E.) Miller of the Cleveland narcotics squad for the names of those 10 dealers that control 70 per cent of the drug traffic, and we're going right to trial with them," the judge said Friday.

Miller had said Thursday that Cleveland's heroin traffic was "wide open" because as soon as police arrested pushers, they would post bond and go back to selling dope. Miller also said that lawyers were dragging the drug cases out over long periods of time.

Gorman said he and Common Pleas Chief Justice John V. Corrigan and Prosecutor John T. Corrigan conferred Friday and decided to start immediate court action against the drug pushers.

Miller had said that if 10 of the largest pushers who had been arrested in the past were brought to trial and convicted, 70 per cent of the city's drug traffic would be eliminated.

"Preventative detention is not legal in Ohio," Gorman said. "All we judges can do is raise the bond after each arrest. But we wouldn't have to worry about that if we got convictions. We could send pushers with 10 cases away for 400 years."

"This is what we've been wanting all along," Miller said of the court's decision. "If everyone works together, we can do it. We can get those pushers off the streets."

Gunfight . . .

At one point, he offered to give up if he could first talk to a newsman.

"No way," was McCarty's reply. "He can talk to the newsman after the woman and gun come out."

Sgt. James Mann, a community relations officer for the St. Paul Police Department, and Alonzo "Lukie" Lucas III, an official of the Model Cities anti-poverty program, also made trips inside the house.

Mrs. Schwartz, about 50, said she was not sure what convinced the gunman to give up. "I'm so mixed up, I just don't know," she said before being whisked away by relatives.

After surrendering, the man identified himself as Earl Lee Williams, 24, Kansas City. He said he was a Marxist and a Muslim and had been released April 23 from the Missouri State Prison after serving 49 months on a robbery charge.

Williams said he had a $300-a-day heroin habit.

The wounded man was identified as Charles Rush, 20, and the fourth man gave his name as Anthony W. Collier, 24.

Police said the four men in custody were from the Kansas City area and had been in St. Paul only a short time.

Three were held in the city jail.

Capt. Louis H. Burt said charges would be filed today.

McCloskey In GOP Race For President; Hits Nixon

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Rep. Paul N. "Pete" McCloskey Jr. says he is challenging President Nixon in the California and New Hampshire presidential primaries because Nixon and Vice President Spiro T. Agnew cannot win in 1972. "I don't think they can be re-elected in 1972, regardless of the Vietnam war," the California Republican and war critic told a news conference Friday.

"One reason I have no compunction about running is that they have no chance of being re-elected," he said.

McCloskey, 43-year-old Korean war hero in his second House term, said he will head a slate of 1972 Republican national convention delegates in California pledged to ending the Vietnam war "conditioned only upon return of the prisoners of war."

The GOP is dying under President Nixon's leadership, he told the Los Angeles news conference where he first announced he is running in the New Hampshire and California primaries and elsewhere if money and support develops.

In San Francisco, McCloskey declared: "The question of truth in government is more critical than the war."

"How can the people have any faith and trust in their government when it withholds half the information and charges the press with distorting the other half?" McCloskey asked. A Western White House spokesman said the President had no comment.

Washington observers have assumed that the President would not enter primaries and would file formal disavowals if others entered his name.

Before McCloskey's news conference, however, a Nixon aide said the President very likely "will not abdicate if faced with a challenge."

McCloskey said his organization will work on a campaign to register young voters as Republicans.

"We can tell them that the Republican primary will give them their first chance to end this war," he said.

Tonkin Incident Vagueness Told

WASHINGTON (AP) — Daniel Ellsberg, who says he gave newspapers secret Pentagon documents on the Vietnam war, has charged that then-Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara misled Congress on the 1964 Gulf of Tonkin incident.

"He testified with far more certainty than the case justified," Ellsberg told newsmen Friday. "His testimony was highly misleading. He did give a very misleading impression of his conviction and the degree of evidence."

Ellsberg, an MIT researcher under federal indictment for unauthorized possession of classified documents, said a command and control study compiled after McNamara's testimony indicates far less certainty about what happened.

Call Hospitalized

Mr. Robert Call, Route 1, has been admitted to Riverside Methodist Hospital Columbus, following a reported heart attack. He is listed in "poor" condition this morning by a hospital spokesman.

HEROIN AT UNDER AGE 15—Lynne Bongiorno, 15, tells the Senate Government Operations Subcommittee in Washington that she started shooting heroin at 11 and kept on until she joined a rehabilitation program nine months ago. "It's much easier to get heroin than to get liquor," she said. Beside her is Louis Rivera, 15, also a former addict. They were brought from New York by the city's Addiction Services Agency.

Two Injured, One Cited In Four-Car Collision

Four persons were injured and one cited in three separate accidents, including a four car mishap, in Pickaway County Friday afternoon and early Saturday morning.

Phyllis J. Francis, 20, of Laurelville, received cuts of the head, arm and knee when she was involved in a four-car mishap 2:30 a.m. Saturday on County Road No. 511, two-tenths of a mile south of Morris Road. She was treated and released at Berger Hospital.

Three southbound vehicles had pulled off the right side of County Road No. 11 and stopped.

The Francis car, traveling south, struck the rear of an auto driven by Marion D. Russell, 21, of Wheelersburg, which in turn was forced into the back of a station wagon driven by Brett G. Marsh, 21, of Sciotoville.

a crossover to make a left turn when Long, also traveling south, struck the left rear of Kendall's truck.

Charles E. Kreisel Jr., 21, of Route 1, suffered cuts and bruises of the head when his vehicle left the road 1 a.m. Saturday at the junction of Radcliffe Road and the Jefferson-Westfall - Emmet Road in Wayne Township.

Deputy Sheriff Lowell Ferguson's report states Kreisel's vehicle went off the road in a dense fog and hit a corn crib.

Threshers To Appear At London

LONDON, Ohio (AP)—Miami Valley Steam Threshers Association holds its 22nd annual show at the Madison County Fairgrounds here July 15-18, and expects the greatest number of exhibitors in its history.

In all, 97 pieces of antique steam and gas-powered threshers and utility machines are to be displayed—including a steam powered popcorn popper, a sawmill in actual operation and a veneer mill.

The machines will number twice those displayed in recent years in similar events in Greenville, Bellefontaine, Mechanicsburg and Urbana, sponsors said.

Highlights of the four-day event include a Friday night parade through London, square dancing, barbershop quartet competition and flea markets.

Arts and crafts are to be displayed at the fairgrounds throughout the affair, this year called "Heritage Holidays."

The association has about 350 members, most of whom make steam threshing machines their chief hobby. The sessions of the group attract many thousands of persons each year.

Committee Minority Claims CBS Feud Like 'Inquisition'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The minority report from the House Commerce Committee, which is recommending citation of CBS for contempt of Congress, says the congressional probe of a controversial network documentary "smacks of inquisition, not inquiry."

The thirteen committee members who voted against a contempt citation spelled out their objections in a 38-page report. Twenty-five members voted to cite both CBS and its president, Frank Stanton, but the majority's formal report has not been issued.

A vote by the full House is expected Tuesday.

"The point is, the subpoena is not narrowed to the specific allegations respecting 'manipulative techniques,' 'rearrangement of the words of an individual,' or making one appear to deliver a statement which he did not in fact deliver," the minority report said Friday.

They are directed at the whole process of editing and of selecting and rejecting," the 13 objectors said.

The network has refused to provide edited-out portions of its controversial, award-winning documentary, "The Selling of the Pentagon."

The minority report gave no judgment on the charges against CBS, but said if Congress really wanted to draw conclusions, it already has enough material to do so.

The real purpose of the congressional investigation, the report said, is to set government standards for a standard of truth.

"There is not only explicit constitutional prohibition but also a long history of court precedent that forbids restraints on how a newsman's judgement is exercised in the formation of a news report," the minority report said.

"Prying into his notebook after the fact or setting up formal guidelines prior to publication goes against the spirit of these guarantees."

Friends may call at the funeral home beginning 3 p.m. Sunday.

River Craft Tolls To Be Fought

CINCINNATI (AP) — The prospect of tolls on Ohio River commercial and pleasure craft brought cries of opposition and predictions of spiraling costs Friday from Cincinnati interests.

Louis Fiore, president of the Cincinnati-based Ohio River Co., the world's largest river barge line, said, "If we're forced to pay a toll, we would obviously have to raise our rates and Cincinnati would be at a regional marketing disadvantage. 'We are going to be against it and in my opinion, most of Congress agrees with us.'"

The tolls were recommended in a study by Robert Burns, economist for the U. S. Department of Transportation who noted a users tax for waterways has been under consideration by every administration since Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Set Speedup In Cleveland Drug Trials

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Judge Frank J. Gorman says the county's top 10 heroin dealers will be brought to trial within 60 days and that court action against drug pushers will be speeded up.

"I am going to ask Lt. (Burt E.) Miller of the Cleveland narcotics squad for the names of those 10 dealers that control 70 per cent of the drug traffic, and we're going right to trial with them," the judge said Friday.

Miller had said Thursday that Cleveland's heroin traffic was "wide open" because as soon as police arrested pushers, they would post bond and go back to selling dope. Miller also said that lawyers were dragging the drug cases out over long periods of time.

Gorman said he and Common Pleas Chief Justice John V. Corrigan and Prosecutor John T. Corrigan conferred Friday and decided to start immediate court action against the drug pushers.

Miller had said that if 10 of the largest pushers who had been arrested in the past were brought to trial and convicted, 70 per cent of the city's drug traffic would be eliminated.

"Preventative detention is not legal in Ohio," Gorman said. "All we judges can do is raise the bond after each arrest. But we wouldn't have to worry about that if we got convictions. We could send pushers with 10 cases away for 400 years."

"This is what we've been wanting all along," Miller said of the court's decision. "If everyone works together, we can do it. We can get those pushers off the streets."

At one point, he offered to give up if he could first talk to a newsman.

"No way," was McCarty's reply. "He can talk to the newsman after the woman and gun come out."

Sgt. James Mann, a community relations officer for the St. Paul Police Department, and Alonzo "Lukie" Lucas III, an official of the Model Cities anti-poverty program, also made trips inside the house.

Mrs. Schwartz, about 50, said she was not sure what convinced the gunman to give up. "I'm so mixed up, I just don't know," she said before being whisked away by relatives.

After surrendering, the man identified himself as Earl Lee Williams, 24, Kansas City. He said he was a Marxist and a Muslim and had been released April 23 from the Missouri State Prison after serving 49 months on a robbery charge.

Williams said he had a $300-a-day heroin habit.

The wounded man was identified as Charles Rush, 20, and the fourth man gave his name as Anthony W. Collier, 24.

Police said the four men in custody were from the Kansas City area and had been in St. Paul only a short time.

Three were held in the city jail. Capt. Louis H. Burt said charges would be filed today.

McCloskey In GOP Race For President; Hits Nixon

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Rep. Paul N. "Pete" McCloskey Jr. says he is challenging President Nixon in the California and New Hampshire presidential primaries because Nixon and Vice President Spiro T. Agnew cannot win in 1972. "I don't think they can be re-elected in 1972, regardless of the war," the California Republican and war critic told a news conference Friday.

"One reason I have no compunction about running is that they have no chance of being re-elected," he said.

McCloskey, 43-year-old Korean war hero in his second House term, said he will head a slate of 1972 Republican national convention delegates in California pledged to ending the Vietnam war "conditioned only upon return of the prisoners of war."

The GOP is dying under President Nixon's leadership, he told the Los Angeles news conference where he first announced he is running in the New Hampshire and California primaries and elsewhere if money and support develops.

In San Francisco, McCloskey declared: "The question of truth in government is more critical than the war."

"How can the people have any faith and trust in their government when it withholds half the information and charges the press with distorting the other half?" McCloskey asked.

A Western White House spokesman said the President had no comment.

he laid off by Lockheed and its suppliers and subcontractors in Southern California.

Some 106,000 aerospace workers have been idled in the state which Nixon carried in 1968 by 223,346 votes out of 7.1 million cast.

Banking Chairman John Sparkman, D-Ala., said the committee would begin drafting a final bill in closed session Monday.

He expressed the hope a measure could be reported to the floor by the middle of the week and predicted it most likely would establish a loan guarantee board to help other big businesses in trouble rather than the specific legislation originally proposed by the administration to rescue just Lockheed.

Walker said the administration didn't care which approach the committee took as long as it acted quickly on some kind of bill that would benefit Lockheed.

The company says it might run out of cash by September.

Friend Of Okra, Friend Of South

TIFTON, Ga. (AP) — Gov. Jimmy Carter says Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey's appreciation of fried okra marks him as a friend of the South.

"I could tell by the amount of fried okra you consumed at lunch that you were one of us," Carter told Humphrey Friday as the Minnesota legislator presided at a Senate subcommittee hearing on rural problems.

Carter sat next to the senator at a lunch before the hearing in South Georgia.

"I also like grits," Humphrey told Carter, a witness at the hearing.

Claim Newspaper Maligned Carson

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — An Ohio State University official said Friday a Cleveland Plain Dealer article about plans to sell 15 acres of OSU land to Industrial Nucleonics Corp. maligned another university administrator.

The Ohio Senate Judiciary Committee has approved the sale of the land and the House Judiciary Committee is now holding hearings on the plan.

Youth Sentenced In Comb-Stabbing

Three years under probation with the juvenile court was the sentence levied Friday against a Circleville youth in the comb-stabbing of a young girl last month.

The boy 13, reportedly used the sharp handle of a styling comb to stab 14-year-old DeeAnna Lowe, 808 Maplewood Ave., four times around her eye on June 17. She had to seek treatment at Berger Hospital for her wounds.

Juvenile Court Judge Guy Cline suspended a sentence to the Ohio Youth Commission for the boy, placing him instead on probation. He was also ordered to complete 50 hours of community work.

HEROIN AT UNDER AGE 15—Lynne Bongiorno, 15, tells the Senate Government Operations Subcommittee in Washington that she started shooting heroin at 11 and kept on until she joined a rehabilitation program nine months ago. Two Injured, One Cited In Four-Car Collision

Four persons were injured and one cited in three separate accidents, including a four car mishap, in Pickaway County Friday afternoon and early Saturday morning.

Phyllis J. Francis, 20, of Laurelville, received cuts of the head, arm and knee when she was involved in a four-car mishap 2:30 a.m. Saturday on County Road No. 511, two-tenths of a mile south of Morris Road. She was treated and released at Berger Hospital.

Three southbound vehicles had pulled off the right side of County Road No. 11 and stopped.

The Francis car, traveling south, struck the rear of an auto driven by Marion D. Russell, 21, of Wheelersburg, which in turn was forced into the back of a station wagon driven by Brett G. Marsh, 21, of Sciotoville.

THE Station wagon then collided with the rear of the third vehicle driven by Joseph V. Poole, 17, of Portsmouth.

Russell suffered cuts and bruises of the head and was referred to the doctor for treatment.

Deputy Sheriff John Bost cited Miss Francis for failure to maintain assured clear distance ahead.

Ivan E. Kendall, 73, of Ashville, received a bump on the head when his pickup truck was struck by a van driven by Richard B. Long, 37, of Worthington, 1:35 p.m. Friday on Route 23, two-tenths of a mile north of County Road No. 511. Kendall was referred to the doctor for treatment.

According to the report of Deputy Sheriff Bob Hoover, Kendall was southbound on Route 23 and had pulled into a crossover to make a left turn when Long, also traveling south, struck the left rear of Kendall's truck.

Charles E. Kreisel Jr., 21, of Route 1, suffered cuts and bruises of the head when his vehicle left the road 1 a.m. Saturday at the junction of Radcliffe Road and the Jefferson-Westfall - Emmitt Road in Wayne Township.

Deputy Sheriff Lowell Ferguson's report states Kreisel's vehicle went off the road in a dense fog and hit a corn crib.
